Soldiers' Bonus Bill Made Ready For President

Bonus Bill Enacted By Senate And House Will Go To President

BILL IS PASSED BY BIG MAJORITY

Little Concern Felt Over Hoover's Avowed Intention Of Veto

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The $700,000,000 Soldiers' Bonus bill, enacted by house and senate with overwhelming majorities in opposition to President Hoover's wishes, today awaited the signatures of Vice President Curtis and speaker Longworth before being sent to the White House where a presidential veto is foreshadowed.

Advocates of the bill showed little concern in the President's attitude, since they were assured both the house and senate would enact the measure over a veto. The senate passed the bill 72 to 12 while the house previously approved it 363 to 39. It requires but a two-thirds majority of both branches to pass it over the presidential "no."

Pocket Veto Unlikely
Since the bill will reach the White House today, the President has the constitutional power to kill it by a pocket-veto, by failing to act upon it until after congress adjourns at noon March 4. His advisers have announced he will either sign or veto it early next week, sending a vigorous message to congress at the time. It was stated authoritatively he would not exercise his constitutional prerogative of a pocket veto, acquired because 10 legislative days, exclusive of Sundays will not have elapsed entirely before noon on March 4.

The bill allows veterans to borrow from the government not exceeding 50 percent of the face value of the adjusted compensation certificates, under the "bonus" act of 1924. They must pay 4 1/2 per cent interest, compounded annually, equal to the unclaimed half of their certificates if the loans are not repaid before the certificates mature in 1945. They have the same privilege at present, but the loans cannot total more than 22 1/2 percent of the certificate's face value.

Will Consider Bill
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Although he has already expressed his disapproval of it rather vigorously, President Hoover does not plan to "fire" the soldiers' loan bill back at congress in any precipitate manner, it was stated at the White House today.

While the expectation is general that a veto awaits the measure, it was said on Mr. Hoover's behalf that he could give the completed bill "careful consideration" and perhaps refer it to the treasury for an opinion. This is the usual procedure for all bills having to do with federal financing.

In any event, it was said to be unlikely that the president will act on the bill until next week.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Boys of the Friendship street district believe in preparedness and so they built a big snow fort in a vacant lot at the intersection of South Mill street. They don't believe in dissimulation unless they run out of snow. Yesterday afternoon the fort was in a badly battered condition—caused either by the enemy's raids or by the weather.

Robert Jackson, of New Galilee, was discharged from the Jameson Memorial hospital on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Wm. Hanna Dies Suddenly

Expires While Walking Up Hillside Near Water Works

DEATH IS DUE TO EXHAUSTION

Death came suddenly to Mrs. William Hanna, aged about 63, of 825 East Washington street, in the snow on a hillside near the New Castle waterworks about 12:30 this afternoon. Mrs. Hanna was ascending a path leading up the hill from the waterworks toward the Pulaski road. She was accompanied by her son, Harry Hanna.

She had stopped to rest several times on the way up the hill. As she neared the top she remarked to her son: "I am all in." As she sank to the ground Harry got under her and held her on his knee. She gasped several times and became unconscious.

Running to the New Castle waterworks, Harry told what had happened and the police were called. Detective John Young, Thomas Lynch and Augustine responded to the scene in a few minutes and administered two tanks of oxygen, but were unable to revive her. An ambulance was summoned and Coroner J. P. Caldwell was called. He gave it as his opinion that death had been caused by heart exhaustion due to exertion in climbing the hill.

Mrs. Hanna had been employed one day a week in doing janitor work about the pump station. This morning she was not feeling very strong and her son, Harry, aged about 18, accompanied her and helped her with the work. For that reason she got through with her work about noon, and desiring to visit a friend on the Pulaski road, started up the hill. There is a path (Continued On Page Two)

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 20.—You talk about this country being hard up. Every place thinks it's worse off than the other.

The Red Cross as usual is doing heroic work, but it's the people that they can't reach. People that they never heard of. People that are so far back in the woods that the rest of the world has almost forgotten 'em. Those are the ones that I pity in all this depression.

I am speaking of the senate and congress of these United States. I want to see a Red Cross relief formed that will go so far back into the underbrush of the hinterland that it will reach this little known but patriotic group.

Then can the Red Cross say: "We have performed our duty." Yours,

Will Rogers.

Man Is Found Dead In Room

Frank Sharp, 64, Expires In Room On Apple Way During Night

HAD BEEN ILL FOR PAST WEEK

Frank Sharp, aged 64, resident of this city for most of his life, was discovered dead on the floor of the kitchen of his apartment, second floor Genkinger property, corner of Apple and Market ways, at 8:30 o'clock this morning by a friend, Amos Snyder, 27 North Front street, who had called to determine his condition. Sharp having been quite sick for the past week.

The body of Sharp was lying partially under the sink and with his head just inside the entrance door of the apartment. On seeing his friend lying dead, Snyder hurried to Mill and Washington streets and notified Officer Thomas Jones. Officer Jones notified the central police station and Detective John Young and Officer Carl Lockard were detailed to investigate. The police notified Coroner J. P. Caldwell, who is conducting an investigation to determine the cause of death.

No indication of other than natural causes of death have so far been found. Sharp, who had resided in the apartment where he was found for more than a year and had been a resident of the city for the greater part of his life, has no relatives in this city as far as is known. He has relatives in Youngstown and the coroner is endeavoring to get in touch with them.

According to Snyder, who found Sharp dead, the latter had been sick for the past week. On last Wednesday, Snyder was going along Market way, Sharp managed to get to the window and threw his keys to Snyder, asking him to come up. Snyder found him quite sick at the time.

Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock Snyder and Chase Jacobs visited him again, finding him quite poorly. They cleaned him up and also fixed up his bed and urged him to go to the hospital, but he refused.

Snyder had a key and had returned this morning to see how he was getting along. It is believed that he died about midnight or shortly afterward, as he was heard groaning by persons in the barber shop underneath his apartment late last night.

Mr. Sharp was a tinner and slater by occupation but had not engaged in that work for six or seven years, due to the fact that about that time he lost his left leg in an automobile accident and was compelled to wear an artificial limb.

In his apartment was found $86 in cash, a bank book showing a balance of $307.90 and insurance papers. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

DEATH RECORD

Mrs. William Hanna, 63, 825 East Washington street.
George Grim, 70, Volant.
Frank Sharp, 64, Market Way.
Roy M. Connor, 35, 604 Taylor street.
Mrs. Mabel West Rice 57, Youngstown road.

House May Vote Today On Muscle Shoals Measure

Predict House Will Approve Of Compromise Plan For Operation

HOOVER MAY VETO BILL INDICATED

Action By House May Cause Senate To Speed Up Enactment Of Bill

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The House will approve the Muscle Shoals conference agreement today despite the active opposition of administration leaders, who confidently expect a veto by President Hoover, it was predicted by some of the strongest opponents of the measure.

Refusing to yield to the plea of republican leader Tilson for delay, Rep. Wurzbach (R) of Texas announced he would exercise his privilege to call the measure before the House for action late in the day.

Vote Is Assured
Since the House rules provide for but one hour's debate on a conference report, a vote was assured if Wurzbach carries out his plan.

Action by the House may make possible Senate approval in time to rush the measure to the White House to avoid a "pocket veto" and thus force President Hoover, if he disapproves it, to permit a veto on a veto.

Both speaker Longworth and majority leader Tilson indicated they would fight the agreement, designed to end the 10-year controversy over disposition of $125,000,000 war-built Nitrate and Hydro-Electric Power Plant.

Although House conferees agreed with Sen. Norris (R) of Nebraska that Muscle Shoals will become a great manufacturing plant, and supply cheap fertilizers to farmers, skeptical opponents expect it to become a straight-out Government Electric Power Plant.

Under the measure, the President has a year to lease Muscle Shoals. If he fails, the government is to operate it.

Six Known Dead In Argentina As Result Of Flood

One Small Village Tumbles Into Rio Grande River Is Reported

(International News Service)
BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 20.—Government relief detachments fought their way through a storm towards the interior of Cordoba province today, where a small village tumbled into the Rio Grande river.

The floods sweeping the locality obliterated many homes, and at least six persons were known to have lost their lives.

Uncertainty continued to cloak the fate of Mrs. John Benitz, a native of California, and her two daughters. Their home was washed away, but further details have not been received.

Mrs. Benitz, a widow, lost her husband and another small daughter in similar circumstances 19 years ago when the village was wrecked by a flood. Subsequently Mrs. Benitz rebuilt her home and continued residence there.

The storm buffeting all of interior Argentina has disrupted communications, but it was known that several communities have been isolated by floods. The government sped relief to the affected sections.

ELECTRIC CHAIR NOT DAMAGED BY FIRE

(BULLETIN)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 20.—Officials of Rockview penitentiary here, in a long distance telephone conversation with International News Service today, branded as a "lie" reports that the electric chair at the penitentiary had been damaged by fire.

An electric transformer, was burned out at the plant of the American Line and Steel company early this morning, the deputy warden's office stated, "but there was no fire at the penitentiary and the electric chair was not damaged by fire.

"The report that the chair was damaged is a lie."

Officials at the stone plant, eight miles from the prison, confirmed the report of the minor blaze which burned two electric poles and a transformer.

The transformer burned about 2 a. m. today, it was stated, but by 6 a. m. a new one had been installed. There was no damage of any consequence from the blaze.

Large Audience Grooms Mrs. Owen In Address Here

Gives Interesting Picture Of Capture Of Jerusalem And Holy Land

TELLS HOW FLORIDA BUILDS CITIZENSHIP

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Congresswoman from Florida, was greeted by a capacity audience in the Senior high school auditorium last evening, when she delivered a lecture on "Modern American Knights" under the auspices of the P. E. O. Sisterhood.

She gave an interesting exposition of the capture of Jerusalem and the Holy Land by the English and allies during the World War, having gone to Egypt to be near her husband who was engaged in the campaign, and concluded her address by telling how her district in Florida is building good citizens for the future by sending the 36 "best citizens," as the children who are chosen are known, on a pilgrimage to Washington each year.

The second pilgrimage will occur next week, when she will greet these children and take them on a tour of Washington and its historic spots.

Overcome Difficulties
Mrs. Owen drew a beautiful word picture of the campaign against the Turks, a campaign which was far reaching in its consequences, and yet about which little has been written or spoken.

She told of how the English army, in crossing the Sinai desert, had to pipe the water from its western base along the Suez canal, across the desert as the army pushed the Turks back, and of how it faced the problem of supplying water in the mountainous region by utilizing the mountain reservoirs built by Pontius Pilate.

After Jerusalem had been captured and occupied, headquarters were established in a hospice built by the Kaiser ten years before the World War occurred. On the walls of the hospice, were pictured a number of the disciples, and in their midst was the picture of the Kaiser, evidencing his desire to dominate the east in his conquest for power.

She also told of the strategy practiced by General Allenby in the final battle by surrounding the Turks, who were watching Palestine, that narrow stretch of country lying between two ranges of mountains. Both sides used airplanes in (Continued On Page Two)

Two Children Are Burned To Death In Chicago Fire

Eight Others Injured, Two Perhaps Fatally As Blast Occurs In Home

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Two children were burned to death and eight others injured, two perhaps fatally, when an explosion and fire destroyed the frame dwelling of Robert Havlicek today.

The dead were Dorothy Havlicek, 3, and her brother Leonard, 8. Both children were asleep on the upper floor of the house where they were trapped in their beds. Two other children, Aldine, 10, and Loretta, 12, were burned so badly physicians fear they will die.

Firemen asserted that the explosion was caused by gas streaming from open burners of a kitchen range. Fire swept the house immediately afterward, completely destroying the home.

An investigation was begun by police.

Spanish Premier Plans Elections

Premier Aznar, Pledges Self To Restore Constitutional Liberties

NATION ASSURED OF BETTER TIMES

(International News Service)
MADRID, Feb. 20.—Premier Juan Bautista Aznar, Admiral in charge of the new royal cabinet chosen to guide Spain through the most critical period in half a century, assured the nation today that elections and a subsequent constitutional convention in limited form would be called "as soon as possible."

In his first public statement, the man who stepped into the breach to avert the fall of the throne pledged himself to restore constitutional liberties to Spain at the earliest moment, at the same time making it clear that his government would tolerate no unwarranted tinkering with royal prerogatives. The monarch, he informed the country, must retain the sovereign power of the land.

Premier Aznar said that municipal, provincial and general elections would be called in quick succession the next few months, with the proposed constitutional convention sometime this summer. He declared emphatically that all parties would be given "an open door" to participation in elections.

FAREWELLS GIVEN PRISONERS TODAY

Final Leave Taking By Families Of Doomed Pair Today

Sometime during Saturday Irene Schroeder and Walter Glenn Dague will be in the "big house" at Rockview. Doomed to die on Monday morning, February 23, for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul on December 27, 1929, the Gun Girl and her paramour await the time to start for Rockview and the preparation about the county jail today indicated that the departure was not far away.

Dague was shaved before noon today by William Cover, a barber. This fact alone seems to verify the rumor that the pair will be moved early, for there would seem to be little reason for shaving him here today and again tomorrow.

Fresh Clothes.
Fresh clothes have been given both of them. Dague has said goodbye to his family and the final farewell of Irene to her family will take place sometime today. Hope gone, all efforts at commutation refused, the bandit pair have nothing to look forward to but that dread moment when seven o'clock Monday morning when they will keep their rendezvous with death.

Joseph Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mallow, John Schroeder and little Donnie Schroeder went to the county jail Thursday evening about nine o'clock. They had returned from Harrisburg where they had pleaded in vain for the life of Irene and one of the last messages they carried to her was that Governor (Continued On Page Two)

Naval Officials Are Disappointed

Omission Of $74,000,000 Naval Building Program Causes Concern

STILL HOPE FOR SOME ACTION

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Omission of the proposed $74,000,000 naval building program from the calendar of legislation to be acted on before adjournment of congress on March 4, brought keen disappointment today to naval officials. However, they have not yet given up hope.

"We may still get some action," Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of naval aeronautics, said. "If congress failed to act on this program before March 4 the United States would enter the scheduled 1935 naval disarmament conference relatively worse off than we entered the London conference last year. There would not be a single new ship completed."

Urge Congress To Act

Congressional leaders advised the battleship modernization program would be acted upon before congress adjourned, and an initial appropriation of $3,000,000 made available to start work immediately on the three battleships embraced in the program. Action on the building program, however, will be postponed until next December under present plans of leaders.

From Secretary of the Navy Adams down the line, naval officials have urged congress to act on the building program and they plan to continue their efforts. Moffett recently addressed a letter to the American Legion asking it to support the building program. He pointed out the veterans "were not backward" in asking three and a half billion dollars for their own benefit, and urged them to "show the same patriotism you exhibited during the World War" in backing the building program.

Evangelist, Rev. Frank B. Collett preached a strong sermon on "The Sins of Sin."

This evening, Rev. T. J. Keegan will be present to furnish music on the musical saw, the Piano, Accordion and the Slide Trombone. He will also sing.

Miss Mary Tripp had been private secretary to J. Appel Dunk, the general manager of the firm of Dunk Brothers and company, for some years. But one day some disagreeable words passed from the manager to Miss Tripp and as a result Miss Tripp arose, put on her hat and fur, resigned her position, and left the office. Next day Mr. Dunk engaged a new private secretary and the first dictation he gave her was a letter to Miss Tripp, in which he expressed some suspicions against her and made several accusations.

Miss Tripp received the letter the following day. When she read its contents she flushed violently and said the letter was a gross libel on her reputation and in view of the fact that it had been dictated to a third person she believed there had been the required publication to enable her to recover damages in court. She sued.

INDICATIONS ARE HOUR OF DEPARTURE RAPIDLY NEARING

Pinchot had refused to grant a respite.

Still clinging to the last straw of hope, fragile though it seems, Attorney Benjamin Jarrett is in Harrisburg today where he is expected to ask Governor Pinchot to respite Irene until they can get the 32 calibre Spanish gun back from Fort Worth, Texas, where she alleges Dague pawned it for her.

"Ready To Go."

"Dague is resigned to his fate and is ready to go," said Rev. H. O. Teagarden, spiritual adviser of the condemned man.

"Has he anything to say?" was asked Teagarden.

"Before he dies he will have plenty to say," responded the minister, and if you are at the execution you'll hear it," was his response. This was taken to mean that Dague would make a final statement just before he is strapped into the chair.

He has embraced religion according to Teagarden, and finds daily solace in the Bible. As for Irene she seems to have become the victim of black despair. The debonair air of the gun girl has been replaced by grim remorse. With all hope gone, she now realizes, perhaps for the first time the enormity of her crime, and she seems to have given herself up to the demon of despondency.

Early this morning the death warrants for Irene and Dague arrived and under the law must be read to them before they are taken out. This will probably be the last act before they leave. Officers will manacle them, they will be put into cars and the last ride of which they will be cognizant will begin.

Should the officers elect to take Route 422 Irene and Dague will pass over for the last time, as Irene will be taken to the spot on the Butler road where on December 27th, 1929 they murdered Brady Paul in their mad haste to escape the avenging arm of the law, for a robbery committed in Butler.

Tenacity At Court House

About the court house today there is a tenseness that will be relieved only when Irene and Glenn start on their ride to Reidsville. Newspapermen and women, cameramen, and court house attaches are in the corridor, waiting through the long hours in the hope that they may get a glimpse of the pair as they leave.

According to reports from the jail today, Mrs. Irene Schroeder, was far from the cool complacent woman, in her cell in the jail last night. She "carried on" in near hysterics the greater part of the night, it is reported.

The tension has extended into the jail. Fellow prisoners talk to Irene and Dague in snatches, gather in little groups as they discuss the case, and conjecture among themselves as to when they will leave.

The despondent mood of Irene has affected one of the women trustees who has been sleeping in Irene's cell. Tears streaming down her face the woman walked around the jail corridor, apparently genuinely affected by the plight of the Gun Girl.

Between now and the time of departure there is nothing more to do for the condemned prisoners. Every attempt they have made to beat the chair has been turned down, they have said their good-byes, the death warrants are ready for them to hear, and in a convenient garage are several high powered automobiles ready to rush Irene and Dague to the cold, stone building in the middle of the Rockview prison area, where on Monday morning, Executioner Elliott, acting for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will set in motion the machinery which will write into the career of crime of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague.

New immigration laws might keep out some undesirables, but they probably won't affect the stork's quota.

Three Girls And Man Are Held In Attack On Girl

Miners Daughter Severely Beaten As She Walks To School house

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 20.—Three girls, the oldest of whom is 15, today were held for court together with Walter Nominsky, 45, on assault and battery charges growing out of an attack on Dorothy Altman, 17, during an altercation between striking miners and workers at the Edna No. 1 mine last Wednesday.

Those held following hearings before Alderman Bert Faust include Mary Malchuk, 15; Dorothy Pink, 13; and Helen Nominsky, 14, daughter of the man held.

Witnesses charged before Alderman Faust that the group of four all residents of Edna No. 1, attacked the Altman girl who, at the time, was walking to a nearby school house.

Miss Altman testified that she was insulted by one of the members of the group. She was thrown into a mud filled ditch when she attempted to remonstrate. Miss Altman said. Five of those held for the offense were discharged by Faust. Bail was provided for the three girls, but Nominsky was committed to jail in default of the required amount.

Miss Altman was attacked shortly after a riot between strikers from the Edna No. 2 mine and miners who were entering the No. 1 workings had been quelled by state police.

STAR LORE

ANCIENT AND MODERN METHODS OF FINDING THE TIME

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

The average reader would feel he had achieved a great thing if he had accomplished the feat of taking correct time from the stars. Ancient peoples found apparent solar noon with the Gnomon, a vertical shaft that at apparent solar noon cast a shadow exactly north. But apparent solar noon at different seasons of the year varies 15 minutes ahead of or behind regular mean solar noon. Astronomers invented the transit telescope and with that instrument they observe the "clock stars" as they come to the meridian—or circle directly overhead extending exactly north and south, and knowing when a "clock star" arrives at the meridian, he ascertains the exact time.

scouting the other, and while the Turks watched from the mountains and from planes, donkeys were started down over the hillsides, with bundles of hay tied at intervals along a lone piece of rope, which the Turks believed to be cavalry advancing into the valley. In the meantime, the cavalry had been moved to a strategic point, and finally broke through the Turkish lines and hemmed them in from the rear. The Turks, thus surrounded, surrendered and approximately 100,000 of them were captured.

The fighting in this campaign was over the same ground which the Crusaders of the early centuries had fought, and ever ground hallowed by memories of Christ and old Biblical history.

Mrs. Owen stated that this campaign cost 100,000 lives, a comparatively small number in proportion to the lives lost in the other battles of the World War, yet far too many. She stated that war was not worth one life, when it is that of a youth on the verge of manhood with so much hope and promise for the future ahead of him, and felt that the influence of womanhood would tend to promote permanent peace for the future.

Florida's Plan

She told of how she was building citizens for the future in her district in Florida, through a plan whereby the various counties in her district select the outstanding boy or girl, as a representative of his or her community, and these boys and girls, 36 in all, are taken to Washington where they can see the forces of our government in action. Here they greet the president, see the law makers in session, and visit the Supreme Court while it is meeting.

The impressions gained by these boys and girls are so great, Mrs. Owen stated that she felt there would never be any danger of them turning aside to embrace the principles of Communism or to ever turn against their government.

Mrs. Owen was escorted to the stage and introduced by Miss Nannie L. Mitchell, principal of the Lawrence and Mahoning schools. She was given a tremendous ovation at the conclusion of her address.

LEGGE'S RESIGNATION

WHEN Alexander Legge accepted the chairmanship of the federal farm board he gave up a $100,000-a-year job to which he planned to return in a year. At the end of that first year he was induced to continue with the board, but now he announces his determination to return to private life soon after March 4.

His place will be hard to fill. It is not necessary to approve all his acts, or to assume that were he to continue at the head of that board the problems of the farmer would be speedily solved. But the fact remains that he knows the farmer's problems, that he has the force of character, courage and business acumen this chairmanship requires.

Perhaps President Hoover has a successor his equal in mind. He didn't have last July when he pleaded with Chairman Legge to see the job through another harvest, or a $100,000-a-year man would not still be drawing $12,000 a year from the government.

It is generally believed that Chairman Legge is resigning in disgust for the attacks upon him and his board and the continuous heckling to which they have been subjected. They would not have been sensitive to even these had they not felt that they were inspired by political partisanship. Upon whom will the responsibility rest if Chairman Legge is driven out and the chairmanship of the board falls into less able hands with consequent loss to the farmers and the government?

But the board is to lose not only its chairman. Two other members, Charles C. Teague and Samuel R. McKelvie, probably will retire next summer, further complicating the situation.

THE USUAL STORY OF FINANCIAL WIZARDY

The gentleman in Belvidere, Illinois, who induced his fellow citizens around $400,000 with him because he was paying interest that in some cases ran as high as 50 per cent, seems to have reached the end that awaits all the financial "wizards."

His story follows the Ponzi pattern pretty closely. When he finally failed, he was quoted as saying that he would have succeeded if his "enemies" had only given him a little more time; and several hundreds of his investors promptly held a mass meeting and expressed their faith in his ability to make everything right again.

Strange, that some people never seem to learn. And the most unfortunate part of such affairs is that it is nearly always the people who cannot afford to lose their money who provide the bulk of the bad investment funds.

MUST GET DRIVER'S CARD

All motorists of Pennsylvania are warned that the deadline for securing 1931 operator's licenses is February 28.

We have been advised by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles that members of the highway patrol will begin a checkup on March 1 and all drivers who do not have new license cards will be subject to fines of $5, or three days imprisonment. Only one week remains to send checks covering the fee of $2, and a last minute rush probably will delay the mailing of thousands of licenses.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles mailed approximately 2,225,000 applications for licenses early in January but their return has been unusually slow. Any motorists who did not receive applications must notify the bureau on a special form provided for that purpose. They can be secured at the Motor Club. Get your permit at once.

AUTOS AND PROSPERITY

A prominent business periodical recently predicted that automobile production in the United States this year will be about equal to that of 1929, when approximately 4,350,000 machines were sold. This is below the figure for 1929—banner year of all time—but still substantially above the 1930 record, 3,350,000 cars.

The importance of this reliable prediction lies in the fact that American industry as a whole cannot prosper if the automobile industry is sick. The publication in question remarks that "the attainment of the automobile saturation point in 1929 was more responsible for the general business slump in 1930 than any other factor" and it isn't awfully difficult to agree with this statement.

If the automobile industry really is on the verge of regaining its health, the outlook for other industries is measurably brighter.

Usually you can tell, just by looking at a man, that he tells his wife how to manage her kitchen.

No-account people are those you would at once respect if you should hear they were worth a million.

Americanism: A firm belief in the sacred principle of majority rule, until the other side has a majority.

There's a bright side. Think how much worse prison riots would be if these outside criminals were in there.

Said he, profits are low, I must let some one go. And he looked all about. As if choosing him out, Who could best brave the storm, And not wish to be warm.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:40. Sun rises tomorrow 6:48.

What we can't understand, is why some of these gasoline companies can't have a price war here in New Castle instead of over in Cleveland or some other out-of-the-way place.

Up in Franklin, they had a fire on Friday the 13th, which is alleged to have been caused by a black cat tipping over a small heating stove. And to think the town was named after such an ill-fated character.

AND NOW I'LL TELL ONE

A story may have a good chuckle to it and still carry a touch of pathos. One such story is about Sambo. We really shouldn't blame Sambo for not being able to hold a job. He just didn't like work and what a man likes or dislikes is born right inside of him. You can't fight your own nature. Yet, when a man doesn't work he can't expect to eat. And that's the position in which we now find Sambo as he stands against a lamp-post in front of the big cotton-mill. Thus did Sambo meditate, unmindful of the sun beating straight down upon him when suddenly the factory whistle blew its long, shrill blast of noon. Sambo slowly shifted his position and looked up at the screaming stream of steam. "Fo' some folks," he mumbled sadly, "y'ou'd dinna time, but y'ou's only twelve o'clock to me."

LAWRENCE AT THE RACES

Longwood, Pa.

Mr. Jacob F. Rentz, Mgr.,

New Castle News,

New Castle, Pa.

My dear Jake:

Weather fine. Out to the Race Track. They call it Seminole Park and it is a real Park, Jake. In the center circle there is a lake and I went over to see if it would be a good place to fish. And say Jake! a big alligator about 15 feet long spied me. He opened his big jaws and made for me. Being some athlete I side stepped him, jumped on his back and to hold on gouged my fingers in his eyes and you should have seen him start to run. He broken through a paling fence and circled the track I thought in 2 minutes flat. He found he could not unload me and he started back for the lake. He dived down ten times and each time he dived I took in a bucket of water. At the tenth time he dived I sped off and started for the track, with only a pair of shoes and my B. V. D. and Say, I circled that track and was taken for a marathon runner.

Finally got a pair of overalls from one of the stable boys and did not go home until I was sure Matilda was asleep. This thrilling, spectacular experience was pictured by Fox films but they promised not to show it in New Castle.

Yours truly,

Lawrence Castle.

HE DIDN'T FIND OUT

A very inquisitive man, seated at dinner beside a girl in evening dress which displayed her arms and shoulders to excellent advantage, was surprised when she remarked: "I was vaccinated yesterday, and still feel the effects of it."

The man studied her smooth, shapely arms for a moment, and then asked:

"Where were you vaccinated?"

"In Boston," was the demure and smiling answer.

The new wedding pledge for the bride is "Love, cherish and inspire."

Fair enough! But what shall the bridegroom pledge? Let me see—ah, I have it! He shall promise to "Love, nourish and perspire."

HE'S OUT

The absent minded professor went out to lunch and left pinned to his door a card which read "Professor X will be back at 1 p. m."

Returning at 12:30 he read the notice, looked at his watch and pulled up a chair and sat down to wait for himself to return.

"Men's Clothes Will Stay Up," says a headline. A second headline will convince father that this is no hint to throw away his suspenders. It refers to the price.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

The lady was attired in the height of fashion, and as she was strutting through the village, contempt for her lovely surroundings was written on every line—and there were many—of her face. Suddenly she caught sight of a small boy, and she stiffened with anger. The boy was a ragamuffin, and he was carrying a bird's nest full of eggs.

"You're a very bad boy!" she snapped without hesitation. "A very bad boy! How could you rob the nest?" she continued. "No doubt the mother bird is still grieving over her loss."

"Not she, mum," came the reply, "she's part of your hat!"

Then the lady proceeded rather more quickly on her way.

KNEW ALL THE ANSWERS

The teacher of the beginners' class at Sunday school was having her pupils finish each sentence to be sure they understood her.

"The idol had eyes," said the teacher, "but it could not—"

"See," cried the children.

"It had ears, but it could not—"

"Hear."

"It had lips, but it could not—"

"Speak," said one youngster.

"It had a nose, but it could not—"

"Wipe it," they shouted in chorus.

Two words have appeared rather frequently in the Washington news of late. "Malfeasance" means the commission of an act that is unlawful or evil; "misfeasance" the commission of a lawful act in an unlawful or improper manner, especially in a culpably negligent one.

This year we celebrate the 200th birthday anniversary of Washington, who made America free. Canadian hooch makers will join in the celebration.

BUT IT'S SPRING

It doesn't look like spring. The winds blow, the gaunt trees bend and moan in the storms of winter. The rain drips from the eaves, the gutters run full down the hill, clouds race across the face of the moon.

This isn't spring—how could it be?

The earth is dark and soaked with moisture. The grass has not dared to grow an inch. Where are the tender green leaves, the small pink blossoms that sing so sweet a song of hope—if this is spring?

Skeptics? Cynics? Kneel to the musty, fragrant earth. Get your eyes close to Mother Nature, put them near to those bare branches that fight the stormy blasts. You will see spring! The earth is pushed upwards just a little. A small pale growth is showing. A bulb that has its tired of the darkness has made its way upward. I've seen them, you can see them, very small, quietly and hopelessly, making their way. . . . And the twigs of trees you will find small green beginnings of flowers and leaves. Not difficult to find if you look for them, and they are spring.

I know, it's all mechanical, all chemical. Moisture and warmth and a gradual increase in the length of the days—these set things going. They stir life and wake living things from their sleep. And sometimes they come forth too soon and are bitten by the frosts and die before they have begun to live. I know those things. If we set our minds to it, we can pick all life to pieces, and shred it apart and ask, "What's here to get excited about? There's nothing but wood in the tree, there's nothing but all at the heart of the bulb. Don't fool yourself with hope." It's no trick at all to do that. Easy enough to find a wintry thought even in the midst of flowery spring.

You pass through a season of black depression when you believe in nothing and hope for nothing and starve for life and reject it even as you starve. And you come out on the other side of it into a season that is hopeful and fruitful and lovable.

Youth Confesses To Brutal Crime In San Francisco

Woman, Owner Of Grocery Store, Beaten Till Dead
Then Set Afire

WAS LOOKING FOR MONEY YOUTH SAYS

Young Man Apparently Unperturbed By His Predicament—Is In Jail

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—
Apparently unperturbed by his predicament, Charles A. Simpson, 19-year-old youth occupied a cell in jail here today after confessing, according to police, that he was the slayer of Mrs. Albina Voorhies, elderly owner of a small grocery store.
Police described the slaying of Mrs. Voorhies as one of the most brutal in the history of San Francisco.

She was hit repeatedly over the head with a club, bound to a chair and then her assailant poured kerosene over her and touched a match.

Simpson was arrested as he stepped from a courtroom yesterday, where he appeared to answer a charge of stealing an automobile and burglary. At first he denied any knowledge of the crime, but when trapped by police, he made a written confession.

Was After Money
Young Simpson, a husky and well-grown youth, told police that it was generally believed that Mrs.
Voorhies had a large amount of money concealed in her store.

"I made up my mind that when I got a good chance I would rob the store and then burn it down so nobody would know what happened or who did it," Simpson stated in his confession.

Simpson then recounted how he went to the store and persuaded the owner to unlock it so he might buy some cookies. He said he hit her over the head with a club when she bent over to get the cookies.

Stunned but not unconscious, Mrs.
Voorhies staggered into a back room.
Simpson said he pursued her, bound her to a chair and then ransacked the place in search of money.

His confession revealed that he beat the woman into unconsciousness with a club when he returned after looking for the money. Then he poured a can of kerosene over her.
Then he recounted how he touched a match to her clothes and fled. The charred body of the woman was not discovered until the next morning.

The gruesome crime netted Simpson three dollars, a bag of cookies and a few packages of cigarettes.

Postal Leasing Inquiry Resumed

Examination Of Former

Is Continued Today

NEW HAS DENIED
LIST OF CHARGES

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Examination of former Postmaster General Harry S. New, by Sen. Blaine
(R) of Wisconsin, before the special senate sub-committee investigating post office leases, continued today.
Blaine, chairman of the committee, is seeking to get from New admissions there had been collusion to prevent a second grand jury inquiry into the St. Paul commercial postal station lease.

A sharp clash occurred at yesterday's hearing when Blaine made the definite charge that the chain of circumstances grew "stronger and stronger" there was collusion.

New denied it, and declared Blaine was "almost insulting" when he asked if New still insisted that postal inspectors sent to St. Paul, had not sought to get the grand jury called off.

Berlin Starts Drive To Purchase Radium

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Feb. 20.—A Reich-wide drive for the purchase of radium, costly and indispensable remedy for cancer cures, has been initiated by the Berlin Society for Public Health in cooperation with the city of Berlin.

Berlin, among all other world capitals, owns the smallest amount of radium, namely altogether half a gram. New York possesses about 13 grams and Paris ten, while London's amount of radium is not fully known. As to the supply of the various European countries, France leads with altogether 51 grams, before England with 42 grams. Sweden has 6 grams, and Denmark 4 grams.
Since owing to the general business depression and to the unfavorable financial position of the German capital, Berlin cannot think of buying more radium out of its own pocket, the Public Health Society sponsors Reich purchases on a larger scale.

The amount said to be badly needed by Berlin's hospitals is two grams, at least, which would cost about half a million marks.

WARNS BAD TEETH MAY CAUSE INSANITY

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 20.—

That bad teeth may cause insanity was stressed in a speech by Dr.
William L. Shearer of Omaha, Neb., before a convention here of the Alumni of the College of Dentistry at the University of Southern California.

"Impacted or imbedded teeth press on nerves which in turn affect the entire nervous system, sometimes causing mental unbalances or depressive insanity," Dr. Shearer said. "If impacted or imbedded teeth are removed early in life, insanity in a great many cases would be avoided."

Praises Yankees Is Paris Traffic

(International News Service)
PARIS, Feb. 20.—Americans make less trouble for the Paris policeman when crossing the streets than the ordinary Frenchman. This is the report of one French gendarme who stands at one of the busiest corners of the capitol.

"I can almost always spot a Yankee," says the policeman, "by the way he waits and looks before making a dash. And now with the new passages between big brass-heads, he gives us no trouble whatsoever."
"Practically every Frenchman on the other hand, is a born jaywalker and in spite of threatened fines, keeps on crossing the busy streets how and where he can and principally where he pleases."

Pennsylvania Is Second In Number Of War Veterans

Only New York State Has Greater Number Of Ex-service Men

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—Pennsylvania ranks second of the 48 states in the number of war veterans and is one of the four states having veterans in excess of 200,000 according to figures presented to the house by Representative Hampton P. Fulmer of South Carolina. Mr. Fulmer told the house that the statistics had been procured from sources believed to be reliable.

War veterans from the Keystone state number 297,891, according to the data offered by Mr. Fulmer. New York is named as the only state ranking ahead of Pennsylvania, the Empire state being credited with 397,864 veterans. Illinois comes third with 251,074 veterans and Ohio fourth with 200,293.

The statistics presented by Representative Fulmer further indicate that the United States veterans' bureau in Pennsylvania only 642 beds for veterans in need of hospitalization, 28 of these being in the Aspinwall hospital and 416 in the veterans hospital in Philadelphia.

Grove's Laxative BROMO QUININE TabletsNew Bonus Law Would Provide Big Sum For Pennsylvania VeteransBy ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—World war veterans residing in Pennsylvania who are now holding adjusted compensation certificates would be able to borrow approximately $132,500,849, or about $72,375,467 more than they can borrow on the certificates at the present time, under the measure just passed by the house and now pending in the senate, according to statistics compiled by the veterans' bureau and submitted to congress by Representative Wright Patman of Texas. The maximum amount that could be loaned under the proposed measure includes, of course, any previous loans now outstanding on the certificates.

At the present time, veterans residing in Pennsylvania who hold adjusted compensation certificates can borrow up to 23½ per cent of the loan value of the certificates to date, or a maximum of approximately $59,625,382, at an average interest rate of six per cent.

The measure as voted out of the house proposes that sums up to one-half the matured value of the adjusted compensation certificates be loaned to veterans holding such certificates and desiring to borrow money on them, or one-half the amount the certificates would be worth in 1945.

According to the veterans' bureau there are approximately 250,759 World war veterans living in the Keystone state who hold adjusted compensation certificates which, upon maturity in 1945, would be valued at $265,001,699. Under the act passed by the house, these veterans would be permitted to borrow one-half that sum, less, of course, any loans outstanding on the certificates at the present time.

No Resolution To Oust Davis Will Be Made By Nye

Senator Nye, About Ready To Drop Probe Into Davis Campaign Funds

REPORT WILL BE GIVEN SENATE

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Probability of ouster proceedings against Senator James J. Davis (R) of Pennsylvania, because of excessive campaign expenditures in the Pennsylvania primary last summer, dwindled today when Senator Nye (R) of North Dakota indicated no resolution would be presented to the senate declaring the Davis seat vacant.

Nye, as chairman of the campaign funds investigating committee, has been insisting Davis should take responsibility for a large share of the benefit accruing to the Brown-Davis ticket from his expenditure of more than $1,000,000 declared now by "doubts the propriety" of such action against the junior Pennsylvania senator.

Nye said, however, his future course would be determined by the view of the full committee membership. He added, however, he did not expect to introduce an ouster resolution, but that any other member was at liberty to do so. The prospect of any other member taking such action appeared slim.

The committee's report may be presented to the senate next week.

Canadian Held On Charge Of Bigamy

Annulment By Catholic Church Not Sufficient To Satisfy Law

(International News Service) MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 20.—An annulment of marriage by the Catholic church is not recognized by the Canadian government, according to a ruling of Judge Lacroix on record here today.

The jurist ruled that a marriage annulled by the Catholic church did not give a husband permission to remarry without a civil annulment or divorce. As a result, Alphonse Simard, of Three Rivers, was adjudged guilty of bigamy and ordered to jail.

Simard's first marriage was annulled by the church and he remarried. His first wife filed bigamy charges and Simard was convicted.

Steuer Probing Sales Of Stock

Sales Of Bank Of United States Bankus Corporation "Units" Probed

MORE INDICTMENTS WILL BE SOUGHT

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Sales of Bank of United States-Bankus Corporation stock "units" today became the principal subject of inquiry in Special Deputy Attorney-General Max D. Steuer's investigation of the bank's affairs.

At the same time it was indicated that when the country grand jury reconvenes next Wednesday Steuer, in his capacity as special assistant district attorney, may take steps to obtain at least three more indictments, charging various officials with participation in the "wrecking" of the institution.

According to Steuer, not only were "units" sold to depositors and others on the basis of a "guaranteed" price of $198 per share, but when stock nevertheless began depreciating in value, officials of the bank, headed by a so-called managers' syndicate, "dumped" 100,000 units on the Bankus City Financial and

Municipal Financial Corporations in order to "get out from under." Samuel Rosoff, millionaire sub-contractor and a heavy stockholder in the bank, announced today that more than 45,000 depositors, representing $45,000,000 in deposits, have signed pledges supporting his plan of reorganization, now before state banking superintendent Broderick.

The terms of the agreement were not made public, but the impression was given that the woman would receive a substantial amount.

Bird Records Sought By Game Commission

The game commission is much interested in receiving reports of large flocks of waterfowl during this spring's migration. Local residents observing unusual flocks on the river or adjoining creeks will be assisting the commission very much by reporting the presence of these birds since it is hoped to take many motion picture films of waterfowl this spring and summer. The commission is also interested in receiving reports of song birds.

Among those which appear about March 1 include the Mallard Duck, Black Duck, Baldpate, Shoveler, Pintail, Redhead and Goldeneye Ducks, Woodcock, Sharpshinned Hawk, Cooper's, Red-shouldered and Duck Hawks, Short-eared Owl, Hermit Thrush, Robin and Bluebird. Some of these species of course occasionally spend the winter with us, such as the Sharp-shinned, Cooper's and Red-shouldered Hawks, Short-eared Owl and Robin.

Some species including the Gadwall Duck, Canvasback Duck, Scaup and Lesser Scaup Duck, Ring-necked Duck and Sparrow Hawk arrive about March 10. The Sparrow Hawk occasionally winters with us, however.

The species which begin to arrive about March 15 and thereafter include the Horned Grebe, Loon, Merganser, Hooded Merganser, Green-winged Teal, Bufflehead Duck, Whistling Swan, Great Blue Heron, Black-crowned Night Heron (arriving in late March or early April), Wilson-snipe, Pectoral Sandpiper (a rather rare and irregular migrant in the spring from March 20 to May 15, recorded chiefly at Erie) Killdeer which is also occasional in winter, Mourning Dove, Turkey Vulture, Marsh Hawk, occasional in winter, Barn Owl, occasional in winter, Kingfisher, occasional in winter when the streams are open, Yellow-bellied Sapsucker, Flicker, occasional in winter, Phoebe, Cowbird, Red-winged Blackbird, Meadowlark, sometimes fairly common in winter if food is available, Rusty Blackbird, Purple and Bronzed Grackles, Palm and Pine Warblers.

Such birds as the Old Squaw Duck have arrived, or passed over during migration, as early as February 20; the Canada Goose in mid-February, and of course the Robin is also to be looked for in latter February.

The Tree Sparrow will be leaving us the latter part of March or early April not to be with us again until next October.

While the above may be regarded as fairly general dates of arrival for some sections of the state at least, oftentimes wide awake bird students make earlier observations.

The coming of the spring birds means an increased activity on the part of nature lovers who will set about to devise ways and means of attracting these creatures. In this respect the board of game commissioners has available for distribution an interesting bulletin entitled "A Year's Program for Bird Protection in Pennsylvania," which contains valuable information about how to attract birds and many specifications for building bird houses. Every school teacher and boy scout should possess a copy of this publication.

Seventeen On Truck Found Unconscious After Reaching Destination

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Feb. 20.—Seventeen persons were recovering here today from the effects of carbon monoxide gas from which they were overcome late yesterday, while riding in the rear of a large truck.

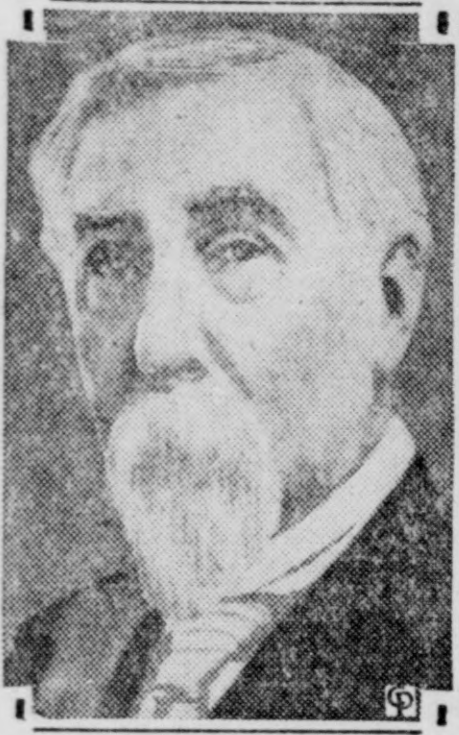

Ten women and seven men, all members of the Salvation Army, were found unconscious in the rear of a truck in which they had been brought from Chambersburg to York, when the driver stopped his truck in front of the Salvation Army headquarters here.

All of the persons affected were carried into the Salvation Army building where they were revived.

Sharon Man Named Reserve Officer

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—Announcement is made by the war department of the appointment of James Timothy Mercereau of Sharon as an officer in the organized reserves of the United States army. Mercereau, who is employed in the engineering department of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company, has been commissioned a first lieutenant in the engineers' reserves, the war department states.

Auto Pioneer Active

At 88, Henry M. Leland, Detroit's "grand old man" of the automobile industry, still carries on, going to his office, daily, to listen to the projects of inventors, hoping to find something worth developing. He made rifles in the Civil war and airplanes in the World war. At 75 he organized the Lincoln Motor company only to lose it through financial difficulties. As early as 1902 Leland began to introduce many of the automotive refinements still in use today.

GHOST WALKERS

RUN LIQUOR

(International News Service) DETROIT, Feb. 20.—Federal immigration officers at the international border here are faced with a new problem of "ghost walkers."

The Erie name is a term used for liquor and alien smugglers when they attempt to cross the ice of the St. Clair river from Canada to the United States wearing a white sheet over their clothing. The white mantle, it was explained, makes it difficult for officers to spy the fugitives as they crawl across the ice bound river.

Urge Dictatorship For Oil Industry

Oklahoma Professor Advances Dictatorship Plan For Petroleum Industry

Would Have Petroleum Organizations Appoint Two Members, Hoover One

By DAVID P. SENTNER
 International News Service Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—A dictatorship for the petroleum industry, with two members appointed by petroleum organizations and the third by the President of the United States, was proposed Thursday by Leonard Logan, of Norman, Oklahoma, associate professor of economics at the University of Oklahoma.

The proposal, put forward as a possible remedial measure for unstable conditions in the oil industry, was made in an address before the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers meeting.

Need Dictatorship
 Professor Logan also declared that an embargo on petroleum and petroleum products, as a temporary expedient, might improve conditions although he said "our present tariff law and the one preceding it are among the leading contributing factors to the present depression."

"The oil industry should follow the lead of organized baseball and the moving picture industry and establish a dictatorship," said Professor Logan.

"Instead of the powers of the dictatorship being imposed upon an individual I would suggest that they rest upon a triumvirate. Let the American Petroleum Institute appoint one member, the Independent Petroleum Association one member, and the President of the United States the third member."

Would Have Power
 "These men with the consent of the entire industry, should be authorized to dictate when, where and how much oil should be produced."

Professor Logan also suggested that the jurisdiction of the triumvirate be confined at first to the production side of the industry.

"It should be one of the duties of the triumvirate to bring about as speedily as possible the unit control of all producing properties and no refinery should be permitted to buy oil unless the oil is produced in unit-operated fields," he said.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
 Editor, The Farm Journal
 Written For Central Press

All who for any reason examine the work of the federal farm board ought to keep steadily in mind the special handicaps under which it has to operate.

The marketing act was passed, and the farm board set up, at a time when prices of farm products had been fairly stable for several years. Mostly they were too low to give farmers satisfactory buying power, but at least they had maintained farm buying power at a level roughly around eleven billions of dollars annually.

What the marketing act aimed to do was to help farmers to set up improved machinery for selling their stuff, so that their bargaining power could make itself felt as higher prices to producers.

That is a long-time job. It is difficult at best, and it may turn out to be impossible. Many large-headed people think so.

But before the farm board had a chance to move more than get organized and decide where to make a start, along came the stock market crash. Farm prices held up fairly well for a time, but presently they began to slip, and in the middle of 1930 they came down in a heap.

The result was that the farm board, instead of thinking up means to improve farm prices, had to turn in and help keep them from going completely to smash. Instead of building new structures, they had to turn themselves into a fire company to fight a blaze in the old ones.

Everybody knows the result to date. Prices of farm staples, just about to slide completely off the roof, caught on the nails driven by the farm board, and have hung there for the last four or five months. I am mixing my metaphors a little, but you get what I mean.

Other prices than cotton, wheat and corn are variable—some down, some half-way down, a few at satisfactory levels. All are awaiting the recovery in general business in the cities which will give them a chance to come back to profitable levels.

If and when this happens, the farm board will be in a position to unload its emergency job, and return to its main function of making permanent improvements in the selling of farm products.

ASKED TO DECIDE IF DEATH ENDS ALIMONY
 (International News Service)
 LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 20.—Whether death ends alimony was a legal question before the appellate court in the case of the late Theodore Roberts, dean of character actors of the films and often called the "grand old man" of Hollywood.

Mrs. Lucy Roberts obtained a decree of divorce and alimony when Roberts died in December 1928. The alimony payments were stopped by the executor, whom Mrs. Roberts now is suing.

BRITISH OPEN CAMPAIGN ON WARBLE FLY

By F. A. WRAY
 International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 20.—A great campaign against the warble fly, which costs British cattle farmers at least $5,000,000 yearly, is being prepared in Great Britain and Ireland.

The warble fly does not sting. It is a parasite that lives on the bodies of cattle, and its grubs bore into the hide, making holes that spoil the hide for tanning purposes.

As many as 1,000 holes have been found in one hide, and five million dollars is a very moderate estimate to put on the damage done by this cause yearly.

Experiments recently conducted by the British Empire Marketing Board have shown that the warble can be effectively fought by dressing the cattle with a wash that costs about two cents per beast for four applications.

Extract of Derris, a tropical Eastern plant, is the chief ingredient in this wash.

FISHERMAN FIGHT FOR USE OF PONDS
 (International News Service)
 WINSTED, Conn., Feb. 20.—Whether citizens have the right to fish in a pond whose shores are posted by a private corporation is to be tested in Connecticut courts by three Thomaston residents who were arrested for fishing through the ice after the state fish and game commissioner told them they had a right to fish.

Sportsmen throughout the state are contributing to the defense fund for the men who will be tried here some time this winter. Pinehurst Lakes corporation, owners of the land about the pond in question, caused the arrests. If the citizens win, sportsmen will attempt to open every posted pond in the entire state.

Wonderful Plans Are Futile To Rid Capital Of Starlings

By ARTHUR R. DONEGAN
 International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 20.—Sooner or later, if his volunteer advisors continue their activities, George R. DeHaven, state superintendent of buildings and grounds, is going to find a way of ridding Pennsylvania's capital of starlings.

The starlings are the bane of DeHaven's existence.

For some reason, they have decided on the capitol dome as their favorite perch. Each evening, thousands of them gather on the dome and ledges of the gatehouse and in the trees in Capitol park. Chattering, quarreling, they make a continuous noise. And the dark masses, clustered over the building, add nothing to its aesthetic value, in the opinion of state officials.

DeHaven tried several ways of getting rid of them. All failed. In desperation, he asked for suggestions from those of more experience with starlings.

Newspapers of the state carried DeHaven's plea far and wide. And the answers came pouring in.

One suggested the building and ground guards shoot off Roman candles, to scare the birds away; another advised that if molasses were spread about the birds would leave neglecting to explain why.

Other weird and wondrous methods were suggested—but all seemed highly impractical. One man advised DeHaven to get a pan of phosphorus and cayenne pepper under the trees and at strategic places on the capitol, light them and let the "cure" work itself. The fumes, he said, would conquer any starling within two days.

But just who was to set the pans of phosphorus and pepper on the many ledges of the building, high above ground, light them and tend them was another matter, it developed.

And DeHaven, after surveying the scene, couldn't see how he could get the smoke near enough to the birds who roost on the dome.

Another visitor told DeHaven to string electric wires over the build-

LEGISLATURE HAMPER CITY SAYS AUTHOR

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 20.—For the most part, American cities are at the mercy of state legislatures, according to A. R. Hatten, author of a home rule bill for Chicago to be introduced before the Illinois legislature.

In an article published by Illinois Voter, Hatten, who is head of the political science department of Northwestern University, said in part:

"The legislature gives the legislature takes away. The result has been to hamper cities in dealing with their local problems, to make them a prey of partisan groups and special interests and to discourage the development of that sense of local responsibility for local problems which lies at the foundation of real civic spirit.

"The results of constitutional home rule for municipalities have been altogether beneficial. It has largely benefited state legislatures by making it unnecessary for them to devote time to purely local questions and thus has left them free to devote attention to matters of state-wide interest. It has been my observation that in non-home rule states the legislature normally wastes at least a third time at each session in the consideration of questions which might better be left to the localities to decide for themselves.

"It is the cities in home-rule states that have made the greatest progress in cleaning up local politics and in providing decent and efficient government. It is in these cities that public opinion is most alert and civic spirit highest."

Slayer Of Wife Asks For Death

Man Saved From Death By Medical Science, May Be Electrocuted

(International News Service)
DOYLESTOWN, Pa. Feb. 20.—Saved literally from the brink of the grave by the wonders of medical science, Charles Haney, of Yardley, rests in the Bucks county jail awaiting the second step in the legal procedure which is expected to send him to death in the electric chair for the murder of his wife at Yardley last fall.

Haney, a potter, has been arraigned for the murder, to which police said he confessed when he was taken into custody. He now awaits indictment by the grand jury.

After shooting his wife during a moment of insane rage, police said, Haney shot himself in the head in an effort to end his own life.

Rapidly Recovers
The shotgun charge tore away part of his face. He was hurried to a hospital where for weeks he hovered between life and death while physicians strove to keep him alive. They finally triumphed, and Haney was removed from the hospital to the county jail. There he is under heavy guard, lest he again attempt to take his life.

The former potter cannot talk distinctly. He mumbles through a mass of bandages which hide the lower part of his face, badly mutilated by the shotgun charge with which he attempted to snuff out his life. He is forced to eat and breathe through a silver tube and only liquid food can be given to him.

Haney, according to jail attaches, has pleaded with them to let him die.

But science and the law keeps him alive, waiting until he is tried and until the law has enacted his due of him.

Folks Are Liberal With Old Shoes In Allentown, Penna.

(International News Service)
ALLENTOWN, Pa. Feb. 20.—"Three poor girls who needed shoes" got them—in quantities, according to police—until detectives put an end to their activities.

According to authorities, the girls took advantage of warm-hearted residents and applied to hundreds of homes in the city for food, clothing and money.

They met with such success, Detective Edgar Kehnel said, that at the home of one of the girls he found 170 pairs of shoes, all in excellent condition.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—"As most of the auditoriums go today," says George Jean Nathan, "it's much more comfortable to leave one's evening clothes at home and come to the theatre in pajamas."

Feeling that way about it, one wonders why George doesn't go ahead and blaze the trail—instead of hanging back and merely talking about it.

If some anonymous idealist appeared at the theatre in pajamas, the likelihood is he'd be arrested and sent to the Nut House for observation.

If Nathan did it, he'd make the front page of every paper in town, and his prestige might even popularize the innovation.

The trouble with our literati is they wear their energies out in mere talk.

WORDS VS. DEEDS.
As old Colorado Maduro once remarked:

"Ah feels ambitious when Ah'm settin' round, talkin' 'bout work; but de minute Ah gets up, Ah loses mah pep!"

The only two queues on Broadway these days are the Times Square Bread Line and the mob fighting to see the new Charlie Chaplin film.

GLORIFYING CHARLIE
Not so many years ago, to admit that you got a kick out of a Chaplin film was to qualify as a rough-neck or a sap.

The highbrows used to elevate their hands in horror and say: "What's going to become of our young people if they're permitted to witness such vulgar clowning?"

Then some sublimated Tripe Magistrate, on Park Avenue, with a Five-Foot-Sheff brand of culture, made the startling discovery that Brother Chaplin was a "supreme artist," the "greatest pantomimist the world has ever known."

Today, if you sneer at Chaplin's work people say:

"Oh, he has the mental reactions of a dish washer!"

EXIT GRUENSTEIN & MAYER.
Herman G. Meister, of South Jacksonville, Florida, Serene, Ancient and Supreme Panjandrum of the Royal Order of Hopping Fleas, breezed into town the other day with a bag full of baby alligators—none of them over four inches long.

Baby alligators are ideal "depression pets." They eat a piece of meat about the size of the head of a match, once a month, and in other ways endeavor themselves to a thrifty woman.

The Duchess became very fond of the little alligators. She christened them "Gruenstein & Mayer," and daily filled the bathtub so that they could exercise their little legs in an invigorating swim.

The other day she placed them in a tub of cold water and turned on the hot faucet to temper the stream. The phone rang. When she returned the hot water was still running. "Gruenstein & Mayer" were lying on their backs, their feet pointed heavenward. They were parboiled and defunct.

TOUCH OF HOME.
The Duchess became hysterical and as is her custom at such times launched an attack on the author of these lines. She inferred that in some subtle and indefinable fashion, he had precipitated the tragedy, although at the time of its occurrence, The Author was many miles distant from the villa.

However, he went out and returned with a three-day-old Florida newspaper in which "Gruenstein & Mayer" were tenderly wrapped and interred.

"That was very thoughtful of you, to bury those poor little devils in a newspaper from their native strand," said the Duchess. It was like wrapping them in The Flag. You have a heart after all."

Domestic life, in America, has its occasional compensations.

THEY STILL DO IT.
Ina Claire says she is through with Broadway, forever.

Bro'dway, accustomed to defections of that kind, has learned to smile and shrug at each recurring manifestation.

The Boys and Girls get tried. They're all temperamental.

Nine out of ten they come wandering back, when they're rested up—and they always find the latch string out.

Just a bunch o' grown-up kids.

Brothers Meet Only Twice In Some 24 Years

Two Irish Boys, Now Grown Men, Meet Under
Strange Conditions

(International News Service)
CHESTER, Pa. Feb. 20.—When James P. McGowan, reporter on a local newspaper, met his brother John on board a steamship recently, it marked the second time in two dozen years the brothers have met under strange circumstances, and recalled their strange encounter during the war, after they had parted while but boys in Ireland years ago.

The meeting during the war occurred while the brothers were serving in different armies.

James was a sergeant in the American tank corps. His brother, John, was serving with the British army on the Somme sector.

The Americans, in the latter part of October, 1918, moved into a village behind the British lines from which the Tommies were being evacuated to reinforce the combat lines.

James, recognizing the insignia of his brother's regiment, inquired as to his whereabouts. He found him quartered a few yards away from the American billets.

They spent two hours together, then John moved up with his outfit. And they did not meet again until they encountered each other on board the steamer in New York recently.

LAYS BIG EGG
(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa. Feb. 20.—A hen owned by Mrs. A. L. Crissinger of Greensburg recently laid an egg which rivaled that of the ostrich in size. The egg was more than twice the dimensions of the ordinary hen's product and when broken filled a cup with its contents. Careful measurements gave the egg a circumference of nine inches, a length of three and a half inches, and a breadth of two and a half inches.

Allentown Had Only Six Policemen Back In 1867 Is Shown

(International News Service)
ALLENTOWN, Pa. Feb. 20.—Increase of the first police force of Allentown from five to six men was the request of the city's first mayor back in 1867, according to a search of municipal records here.

The disclosure came to light through researches made by Sgt. Charles Desch, who is compiling a record of all the policemen who have served the city.

Request for the additional policeman, the record shows, was made by Samuel McHose, first mayor of the town, in his first message to the city council.

The "force" was increased some time later in line with the mayor's request—and the council fixed the patrolman's salary at the munificent of $40 per month.

Odd Club Soon To Meet Fourth Time; Members Convene Every Decade

(International News Service)
SHARON, Pa. Feb. 20.—Founded in 1891, the "Ten Year Club" will hold its fourth meeting here next March 25.

With the pledge that the members should meet every decade on the same date and view their progress in life, a group of youths founded the club 40 years ago. They were close friends, most of them out of their teens a few short years, and to preserve the strong bond of their friendship, they organized their novel club.

Years flew by. Some of the 10 original members were treated kindly in the interim; some died; and others fell chronically ill.

But, only death, serious illness or the death of an immediate friend were valid excuses from attending the meetings of the organization.

Of the ten original members of the club, eight are now living and these eight are making their plans to meet again and answer their hallowed question, "What shall we be doing ten years from tonight?"

At the first meeting held in 1901, seven of the original members were present. One was in Nova Scotia; another had fallen seriously ill; and one, less fortunate than the others, could not afford the financial outlay to make the journey to Sharon from a distant city.

All ten members were present at the second meeting held in 1911 were invited to attend as guests of the club.

Nine members were present at a meeting in 1916 to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the organization.

At the last meeting in 1921, nine gray-haired veterans of the organization sat down to break bread together. They foresaw that the fleeting years would soon leave them without numbers. The members to their list, one of which can be elected to the club on the death of a charter member.

Since the last meeting, two of the original members, John S. Leslie and W. S. Ray, have died and at the fourth meeting two honoraries will be named in their places.

The other surviving members include Harry R. Whitcraft, Frank G. Lambert, McGilvray Shiras, Walter R. Metcalf, Joseph L. Roberts, Edward Buchholz, C. V. Rice and David Printz.

John W. Davis To Lead Fight Ousting Smith

Senate Committee Selects
John W. Davis To Bring Proceedings

ONCE CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENCY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—John W. Davis, who led the Democratic party for four years following his defeat as its presidential candidate, in 1924, will lead the fight of an Insurgent, swept Republican senate to try to force one of President Hoover's appointees from office.

He was selected by the senate judiciary committee to institute "quo warranto" proceedings in District of Columbia supreme court against George Otis Smith, of Maine, who is holding office as chairman of the newly reorganized federal power commission.

Davis divides his time between his homes in Clarksburg, W. Va., and in New York City and will be 58 April 13.

Several senators predicted Davis would present a spectacular attack on Mr. Hoover's contention that the senate was trying to encroach upon his executive authority, and that the U. S. supreme court might be asked to finally decide the case.

Smith and Commissioners Garzaud, of Louisiana, and Draper, of Wyoming, were confirmed by the senate before the Christmas recess and soon as Smith took office he discharged Charles A. Russell, solicitor, and William V. King, chief accountant, of the old commission, for the good of the service.

This angered Norris and other senators and Mr. Hoover was asked to return the nomination papers of the commissioners for reconsideration. The president refused, declaring such procedure was illegal and was upheld by the attorney general. Then the senate reconsidered the nominations again, confirmed all but that of Smith and passed a resolution authorizing the court action. Meanwhile Smith reinstated King "because of his wide knowledge of the work" but refused to reaccept Russell.

The senate claims the constitution gives it authority to reconsider its confirmation of appointees within two executive sessions after confirmation is made.

Butler's Retiring Not Caused By Row Result Of Statement

General Butler's Retirement
Not Caused By Mussolini Controversy

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Retirement of Maj. Gen. Snedley D. Butler has no connection with his Mussolini speech and its subsequent developments.

The outspoken Marine commandant made that crystal clear on his arrival here today. He said:

"My retirement had no connection with the recent affair growing out of my talk before the Contemporary club. I had taken the step long before I even thought of that speech. I was eligible to retire after 30 years and I have already served 33 years. I signed up for these lectures last October."

Gen. Butler plans to retire from the Marines next September to begin a lecture tour. The occasion of his visit to Philadelphia today was to accept a loving-cup from a group of high school students who decided he was the "best speaker" to appear before them.

Points Out Some Pills Prove Fatal

Urges Family Medicine Chest Be Rid Of Poisons

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Pills containing strychnine should not be in the medicine chest of a house where there are children.

An astonishing number of deaths in childhood are due to strychnine poisoning. And some of the commonest pills found in a family medicine chest are the cause. It has been estimated that about 240 children a year die in the United States from accidentally eating such pills. The pills in question are usually cathartic pills, and are among the kind most popular and frequently bought for domestic use. If anyone has a bottle of such pills around a house where there are children, throw it away immediately, because the danger is obviously far from fanciful.

Two kinds of pills, both of which have long been used and prescribed by doctors are the ones involved. One is called the A. S. & B., and the other the A. B. S. & C. The initials A. S. B. stand for Aloes or aloin, strychnine and belladonna, and the C. for cascara. Theoretically the belladonna was put into the pills to relieve the griping caused by the aloin or cascara, and the strychnine was put in to increase the irritability of the motor nerves in the intestine on which the aloin is to act.

This theoretical reason, however, is entirely spoiled by putting them all together in the same pill. In action they do not help each other at all. Strychnine and belladonna are rapidly absorbed and rapid in action; their action which is supposed to help the aloin, is ended in four hours. The aloin itself takes ten or twelve hours to act. So that by the time the aloin is acting, the effect of the strychnine, which was supposed to augment it, has long since passed off.

The amount of strychnine in most such pills is one-hundred and twentieth of a grain. This is half the full dose, as recommended to adults. If, as occurred in one instance recently, a child swallows 15 such pills the amount of strychnine obtained is colossal.

One well known pill, or cascara compound pill, contains, as made by different manufacturers, one-sixtieth to one-one-hundred-and-twentieth of a grain of strychnine sulphate.

Children eat the pills to get the sugar coating. Even if the coating is not sugared the bright colored coating makes the child think that they are candy. One little boy aged four is reported to have eaten nine of these cascara compound pills, containing one and one-half grains of strychnine. He died in convulsions.

There is no earthly reason why drug manufacturers should continue to put strychnine in cathartic pills. The pills, if made without either belladonna or strychnine, would be equally effective. A good way to stop the manufacture would be for customers to stop buying cathartic pills containing strychnine. There are plenty of other good cathartics—too many. The improved compound cathartic pill (improved by reducing the amount of calomel) is a good one for the domestic medicine chest if a stock of pills is demanded.

Woman Suffers Severe Injury Demonstrating

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 20.—There is a right way and a wrong way, housewives believe, to run a washing machine and the attached wringer—and Mrs. Ella Rush was showing her maid both ways.

And this is the way NOT to do it," said she as the demonstration ceased to be a lecture and became realistic.

Mrs. Rush's fingers were drawn into the revolving wringer, her right hand crushed between the rolls.

Several fingers were broken and bones in the hand and wrist were fractured in the accident.

ANOTHER CASE OF STOMACH CATARRH

World's Tonic Is Doing Wonders
Right Here In Your Own Home Town—New Castle Man Tells What A Wonderful Benefit
He Derived From A Few Days Of This Method
Of Treatment

The poisons of catarrh work insidiously throughout the system and wherever the seat of the disease may be it usually manifests itself in irregularity of the stomach and bowels. World's Tonic, the new method of treatment is designed to help eliminate the poisons from the system, help heal the sores from which the poisons come and help purify the run down system. That it does this repeatedly in serious cases is proved in many instances—but none more pronounced than in the case reported here. We let the gentleman tell his own story.

"All my troubles of body have left me since I began taking World's Tonic and I can work all the time now. I suffered with catarrh of the bowels for twelve years—first I would have severe diarrhea and then I would be constipated and was in almost constant pain with the soreness of my bowels. My tongue was always coated. Sometimes I was hungry and again I couldn't eat a bite. Now my appetite is healthy, my bowels are regular and the pain and soreness are all gone. I feel like a new man. To Avoid Grease Scum on Glassware

BY MARY LEE WORK

An easier way to do dishes and 2 other hard jobs. Try it yourself and see

Most women are troubled with a cloudy, greasy film on dishes and glassware no matter how carefully they wash them.

You can avoid this entirely with a preparation called Climalene—used according to the directions below.

It's the same preparation that smart shops use to make the china and glassware you see on display shine and sparkle so marvelously. And in addition, it cuts dishwashing time in half and keeps one's hands lovely.

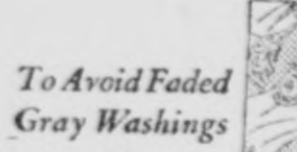

It makes two other hard jobs easier too—family washing and cleaning silver. You can get a package for 10 cents (12-oz. package) at any grocery store.

Women who use it save themselves hours of needless work. You too, can find time to enjoy life—shop, go to the movies, do many of the things you now think only a woman with servants can do.

To Make Dishes Sparkle Like Jewels

Add one teaspoonful of Climalene to a dishpan of water, use only 1/4 the amount of soap. The Climalene-softened water, plus certain bland cleansing agents, cuts your dishwashing time 1/2 or more, saves 1/2 or more the soap you now use.

To Avoid Faded Gray Washings

Use 2 tablespoonfuls of Climalene, and 1/4 the usual amount of soap. Clothes emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading. For soap fade and soap eat are ended this way. In recent tests men's blue shirts were washed 75 times without noticeable fade; sheerest French hosiery 100 times or more—to prove the blandness of this way.

To Clean Silver Without Rubbing

Add one teaspoonful of Climalene to 2 quarts of water in an aluminum pan. Immerse the silver—bring it to a boil. Then rinse silver, and wipe dry. That is all. All signs of tarnish disappear. Even the most intricate and highly embossed silver patterns are perfectly cleaned.

Why It Cleans

Climalene instantly takes all the harshness out of Lake water, medium hard water, and hard water. Makes it soft and gentle as rain water. So soft it does the work with 1/4 the soap you now use. At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly dissolves all grease, dirt and grime, and thus cuts your working time 1/2 or more, in washing, cleaning and in the dishpan.

The Visitor From Mars

A Tale Of Two Worlds
By S. S. MYERS

CHAPTER IV.
"This," said I, "is evidently pure gold! Do you use it for money on Mars?"

"No, there was a time in the distant past when it was used for that purpose, but it was found that our chemists could manufacture it, which lowered its value too much to be used as a medium of exchange. It is now manufactured only for use in the arts and for mechanical purposes. Our medium of exchange is a much finer metal and very rare."

"Well, gold is still the basis of our monetary system, and you have enough in this bar to finance a tour of all North America. But it will have to be exchanged for our money."

"I will be pleased if you will attend to that and take care of all expense as we travel."
He then drew forth another bar, not quite as long as the first, saying: "We will take this also." And with that he stepped back and the door apparently closed of its own accord. As we were about to leave he took from a shelf a pouch that looked something like a lawyer's brief case which he attempted to bring with him. I then noticed that the weight of the gold bar was taxing his strength, so I relieved him of it.

"Now," said I, "What about this ship—you do not intend to leave it here do you?"

"Why not?" he inquired.
I replied: "Some one may discover it and harm it, or break in. And besides you have a fortune in gold here of which you might be robbed."

"Would any one molest or take what does not belong to him?"

"There certainly are such persons. You are on the Earth, now, not on Mars."

"Then I will make it so that he cannot approach." With that he manipulated some of the machinery, pulled out a valve here and pushed in another there which produced a crackling sound that seemed to sweep all around the walls. We then emerged from the ship and walked some distance from it.

"Now," said he, "if you will remain here I will bring what I saw by your dwelling."

He made his way to the cabin and returned with a long pole which had been lying near by. Advancing to within a dozen feet of the door which had been left standing open, he reached it with the pole and closed it.

"Now," said he, "if any one attempts to approach closer than this it will be paralyzed!"
We then returned to the cabin and I placed the gold bars in my trunk. The problem confronting us now was to get to town, twenty miles away, exchange the gold bars for coin or bank notes and get ready for our journey. The only way to get to the town was on foot, and I knew that my Martian friend would be unable to walk that distance, owing to his increased weight caused by the difference in gravity between Mars and the Earth. So I suggested that he remain at the cabin while I walked to town and on the wagon and set out for town, hired a conveyance.

This arrangement was agreed upon and I started the next morning at a break of day and arrived in town a little before sunset, thoroughly weary from my long tramp.

Before setting out on my journey I had explained to my visitor that it would be necessary for him to dress as we do in order to avoid attracting undue attention. Consequently I had taken his measure as best I could, and the first thing I did the next morning was to visit a clothing store where I selected one of the finest suits they had. I then hired a horse and spring wagon and started on the return trip, arriving back at the cabin late in the afternoon, having driven over a trail that could not have been dignified with the name of "road."

I was amused at my visitor's interest in the mare that I had driven back. To him she was an extinct animal and a living curiosity. I had him try on the suit I had purchased and was pleased to find that it fitted him perfectly, although I could see that he felt decidedly awkward in it. Nevertheless he soon became accustomed to it.

The next morning we loaded my trunk containing some of my wearing apparel and the two gold bars, arriving there in the afternoon. The banks were already closed for the day, we drove to the hotel where I left the trunk before returning the horse and wagon to its owner.

I had some money deposited in one of the banks and also had a letter of introduction to the president of that bank, from a friend in my home town, which I had presented on my arrival in Arizona. We arrived at the bank the next morning as soon as it was opened, with our gold bars neatly wrapped in paper, and called on the president.

I introduced by companion as Mr. V. F. Mars who desired to exchange the bars for cash. After they had been tested by an assayer and weighed the bank allowed us $20,000 for them. $10,000 of this we drew out and left the balance with the bank to be drawn upon when needed.

We then visited a clothing store where I had my companion purchase shirts, collars, ties and such things as he would need on our journey. We also purchased two comical, hand-bags, and that evening we boarded a train for California and in due time arrived in the busy, hustling city of Los Angeles. After securing reservations at the hotel we started out to explore the city.

We remained in Los Angeles a week and during that time we took in the principal places of interest and visited our battle ships anchored at Long Beach. My companion made notes continually on pads containing a beautiful material that resembled paper. On looking over his notes I could make nothing of them; his writing appeared to be a cross between a short-hand and Chinese characters and ran in columns up and down the page. His writing materials, when not in use, were kept in his brief case which he carried with him on all occasions. (To be continued tomorrow.)

Racing Handbook Establishment Held Up By Five Armed Bandits

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Five machine gun bandits invaded a racing handbook establishment in the downtown district and after lining up the keepers and 50 patrons escaped with an estimated loot of $10,000, police learned today.

Victims reported that five strangers entered the establishment yesterday afternoon. The leader whipped a machine gun from beneath his coat and the others produced shotguns and revolvers and lined the bettors against the wall. After searching the patrons the gunmen forced the attendants to surrender the bank. The bandits then fled, leaving the victims with their hands in the air.

No report was made to police and it was not until today that authorities learned of the raid.

Abandon Hope For Trapped Miners In Mine Near Scranton

Two Rescued Alive, One Found Dead In Rock-Filled Mine

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 20.—All hope of finding alive the two miners entombed in the workings of the Powderly Mine No. 1, at South Carbondale, had vanished today with the recovery of the body of John Caruso, four feet from the spot where two men were rescued alive Wednesday night.

Rescuer's saw Caruso's feet protruding and it required two and a half hours to remove the rock and extricate the body.

Caruso leaves a widow and five children.

Rescue squads timbered the roof as they proceeded, to guard against any additional loss of life. Early today no trace had been found of the two entombed men, John Roguish, 52, and Thomas Chadwick, 59.

Had that Italian brought anything less than two high explosive bombs to Rome to kill him Mussolini probably would have taken it as an insult.—The Miami Daily News.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

They're talking these days about the happy days that there will be in this city, industrially and otherwise, when the proposed canalization of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers has become an accomplished fact.

Well it will not be the first time that this city has ever been benefited by water transportation when this is accomplished, although there are comparatively few people here now who can remember the time when the old Erie Canal passed through this community and the shipment of the products of this community to other parts of the world by water was a fact. It was also the medium of receiving goods and products needed here.

It helped make this a thriving community in those days, about 1870 and prior to that time. And the McKissick Warehouse, on the banks of the Neshannock Creek was the constant scene of activity as the canal boats from this canal tied up to its wharf and loaded or unloaded their freight and passengers, for people traveled on the canal boats.

The canal was too slow a means for the movement of products and people as the population grew and the industry was developed and the canal gave way to the railroad, the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad in this district being constructed on the old canal right of way. With the return of water transportation, modern invention will speed up the movement of products in that manner and at the same time afford a medium of meeting competition in all parts of the world.

This will enable them to handle a more complete line of merchandise and also to display it more conveniently.

A HUNDRED times a day he suffered the agonies of embarrassment as his conversation was interrupted by "Pardon Me's" as he turned away to stifle gas. It had been that way for years. No matter what he ate, it caused gas and discomfort. His stomach constantly caused him pain. He could hardly bear the idea of food. He was irritable and nervous—couldn't sleep. A friend suggested Tanlac. He tried it. In a few days the gaseous condition left him. His appetite returned. He began to feel loads better in every way. He slept like a boy.

Gym Floor Activity Found At Y. M. C. A.

Physical Department Sponsors
Games And Pool Practice
For Young, Old

Spurred on by increased interest, the sports events of the New Castle Y. M. C. A. this year are being attended by large crowds that find the level of sportsmanship maintained on the association floor a real treat. Thus far this year, the Physical Department reports, there have been 130 Church League games here in basketball alone.

An additional number of 24 games were played with out-of-town teams. Volley ball, too, has been accorded increased patronage this year. Crowds attended 38 such games on the local gym floor this season.

Swimming, has attracted increased notice. Under the able leadership of Joe Bara, layman swimming instructor in the pool, the Junior and Senior Life Saving classes were made to comprise 22 boys and 12 men. Six of the Junior members have recently passed the required life saving tests. Others are making preparations to successfully pass the tests.

Physical Director Henry T. MacNichols announces that there are now 37 classes taking instruction in various phases of gym and pool work.

The Y. M. C. A. Varsity Wrestling Club and the Young Men's Industrial Club, sponsored by the physical department and personally aided by MacNichols, are proving successful sports organizations. The wrestling club has done a great deal to revive wrestling in New Castle by staging bouts, the most recent being a series of matches which served as a preliminary attraction during a volleyball game between New Castle and Tarentum "Y's". The new member of the wrestlers' group is a state champion, whose performance on the gym floor proved a surprise.

During the past few months members of the physical department classes have had the opportunity to participate in two inter-city sports tournament with the Butler Y. M. C. A.

Federal Agents Probe Bull Case

W. Perkins Bull, Wealthy
British Barrister Implicates Al Capone

WAS THREATENED
BY CHICAGO MEN

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 20. — Federal agents today were investigating the explanation of W. Perkins Bull, K. C., wealthy English barrister in which he said "sinister influences" caused his flight from Chicago Tuesday which resulted in an automobile smashup that nearly took his life.

In a hospital at Windsor, Ont., the King's councillor himself mentioned the name of "Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago gang lord, the federal men were told. The barrister implied that in Capone may be the key to the mystery of the "sinister influences."

In checking Bull's actions here before his departure, investigators said they learned that he had been summoned to a fashionable resort here said to be operated by Red Newberry, reputed Capone henchman, and under the direct protection of the gang leader. Federal men said they believe he was threatened there during an interview with two men.

Evidence disclosed thus far indicates that Bull was followed out of town by an automobile carrying the same men who threatened him and the fast pace at which the Bull was traveling at the time of the crash was an indication that the King's councillor and his party was being followed, according to the investigators.

A hearing will be held here today for an injunction against Bull, brought by Dr. John S. Sidley who has sued the King's councillor for $250,000 damages on a detective-trailing charge.

"Best Medicine I've Ever Used" Says Local Man

Although 80 Years Of Age
Mr. Bunnell Tells How Nu-Erb Gave Quick
Results

The splendid results which are derived from using Nu-Erb, are daily being reported to the Nu-Erb Man at Eckerd's Cut Rate Store, by well-known and reliable local men and women.

MR. JESSE BUNNELL.

A recent statement received from Mr. Jesse Bunnell, 1108 Croton Ave., New Castle, Pa., who is 80 years of age is indeed very interesting.

"For the past five years, I have suffered from severe attacks of indigestion. Food that I ate formed a distressing gas after meals and I was often troubled for hours with heartburn. I was extremely nervous. I slept poorly at night. I'd get staggering dizzy spells and I was a chronic victim to constipation.

"Due to my advanced age, I doubted if Nu-Erb would help me, but I decided to give it a trial and in just a couple of weeks, it has done more for me than anything else. I have not had an attack of indigestion since I started using this medicine. The gas and heartburn have been overcome. I am no longer troubled with dizzy spells. My nerves are steady. I sleep better at night and my bowels are acting regularly every day. This Nu-Erb has proved, in my case, that it will do everything claimed for it and I heartily recommend it."

Eckerd's Cut Rate Store, is the only place in New Castle where Nu-Erb may be purchased. Go see the Nu-Erb Man now located there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

E. M. Ferringer Addresses Meeting

An interesting session of the Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist church was held Thursday afternoon in the church parlors when Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ferringer, former residents of Porto Rico were special guests. Mrs. E. J. Blanning was received as a new member.

Due to the fact that the auxiliary is so vitally interested in Porto Rico and that the subject for the Thursday session was Porto Rico, the visit of the Ferringers was most timely.

In his subject talk Mr. Ferringer told of the conditions in Porto Rico and how the natives are handicapped by poverty, disease, hurricanes, over population and hunger.

Mrs. Ferringer showed some beautiful handwork, which had been made by the natives and she told of the customs and mode of living, showing some interesting pictures to illustrate her talk.

Closing the program, the members went to the dining room, where a delicious lunch had been spread on tables elaborately decorated for the occasion. ACCREDITED DOES NOT ALWAYS MEAN THE SAME

In describing the quality of baby chicks there are some terms which have numerous meanings.

The word accredited has various meanings in different states. If baby chicks or hatching eggs come from accredited flocks in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, and the New England states, it means that the breeding stock was tested for bacillary white diarrhea and for the last two successive years there was not one reactor or carrier of this disease in the breeding flock. In Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, and some of the other states the word accredited does not apply to blood testing for bacillary white diarrhea. It means only that the birds have been selected with a reasonable amount of care for good egg production, breed and variety characteristics. Whenever buyers of baby chicks see the word accredited, it is well for them to note from which state these chicks came and what the term accredited includes.

URGES EARLY ORDERING OF SPRAYING MATERIALS

Potato growers who have not arranged for their supply of lime and blue stone for the coming season should do so at an early date.

Burnt lime of the very best quality and crystal form blue stone are recommended by the specialists in charge of spraying at the Pennsylvania State College.

Growers should order a surplus when figuring out the needs for the season's spraying. The grower who runs short always regrets his mistake as materials are hard to get at a late date, even at higher prices, and often severe injury to the crop from late blight or some spray.

Since lime and blue stone keep well if properly stored lime should be kept in air-tight containers; it becomes practical and economical to have a surplus of these products on hand. Both lime and blue stone should be stored in dry places.

When pooling orders, growers should report their needs promptly so that those responsible can place the order at an early date. Growers who wait until the spraying season has started before buying their materials are often too late with the first sprays which are important in getting the crop off to a good start.

RECOMMENDS VARIETIES OF CHOICE VEGETABLES

For the information of Lawrence County Growers interested in the commercial production of vegetables, the following is a list of recommended varieties. Those are not brands handled exclusively by a few seed houses but are varieties available from a large number of reliable sources.

Yellow sweet corn varieties include Golden Early Market for first early only; The Burpee and Harris Extra Bantam for early; Whillips's Yellow and Golden Bantam for second early. White varieties are represented by Early Market for first early only; White Cob Cory and Whillips's Early for early crop; Howling Mob and Vanguard for second early; Country Gentleman and Stowell's Evergreen for main crop.

Recommended tomatoes are Penn State Earliana for first early only; Bonny Best and John Baer for second early; Marglobe and Greater Baltimore for main crop.

Cabbage varieties include Golden Acre for first early only; Copenhagen Market for second early; Enkhuizen Glory for mid-season or kraut. Short Danish for fall and winter use.

Super Snowball is the recommended cauliflower. Among the peppers Early Giant is best for early use; World Beater for mid-season to late, and California Wonder for late.

Cucumbers for slicing include Kirby, Early Fortune and Davis Perfect Crisphead lettuce varieties are New York No. 12 and New York Improved.

Early beets are represented by Improved Egyptian and Early Wonder, with Detroit Dark Red the best variety for the main crop. Chantenay and Red Cored Chantenay are the recommended carrots.

In the celery group Golden Plume for sandy and much soils and Easy Blanching for heavy soils are in the recommended class. There are four onion varieties: Yellow Globe for seed, white sets for bunching, yellow sets for maturity and Riverside Sweet Spanish for transplants.

FOUR SPRING BARLEYS SHOW VALUE IN TESTING

Four varieties of spring barley are considered for demonstrations in Lawrence County. Alpha is a two rowed leading variety and Wisconsin Pedigreed is a six-rowed barley maturing earlier than Alpha. These are the two rough awned varieties which have grown up very satisfactorily.

Velvet and Comfort are the two smooth awned Barley Varieties which have shown up most satisfactorily in their class. The Velvet variety is perhaps the most generally grown variety in Pennsylvania.

Alpha is the variety best suited for growing with Oats, due to its later maturing qualities; Wisconsin Pedigreed could be used with a 60-day type of oats.

A number of Farmers in Lawrence County who have grown a small amount of Barley during the past few years are very well pleased with the yields and the results which they have been getting. As near as could be estimated the average yield last season was 40 bushel per acre.

Indications are that a much larger acreage will be planted to Barley this spring. Barley is recognized as the best nurse crop for spring seeding of grass. This makes it a very desirable crop for those farmers who are seeding down to grass on spring crops.

FEED CABBAGE WELL TO GET PROFITABLE CROPS

Early cabbage does best on well-drained sandy loam soils, preferably with a southerly exposure. An abundance of readily available plant food is needed to promote quick growth and early maturity.

Late maturing crops of cabbage give high yields on clay or silt loam soils and much, containing a medium amount of organic matter and with moisture and nutrients constantly available.

Profitable returns may be expected from heavy fertilization, especially where commercial fertilizers supply the plant food. If sufficient organic matter is supplied to the soil by sod, green manuring crops or stable manure, the crop will prove more profitable with large applications of commercial fertilizer than from manure alone.

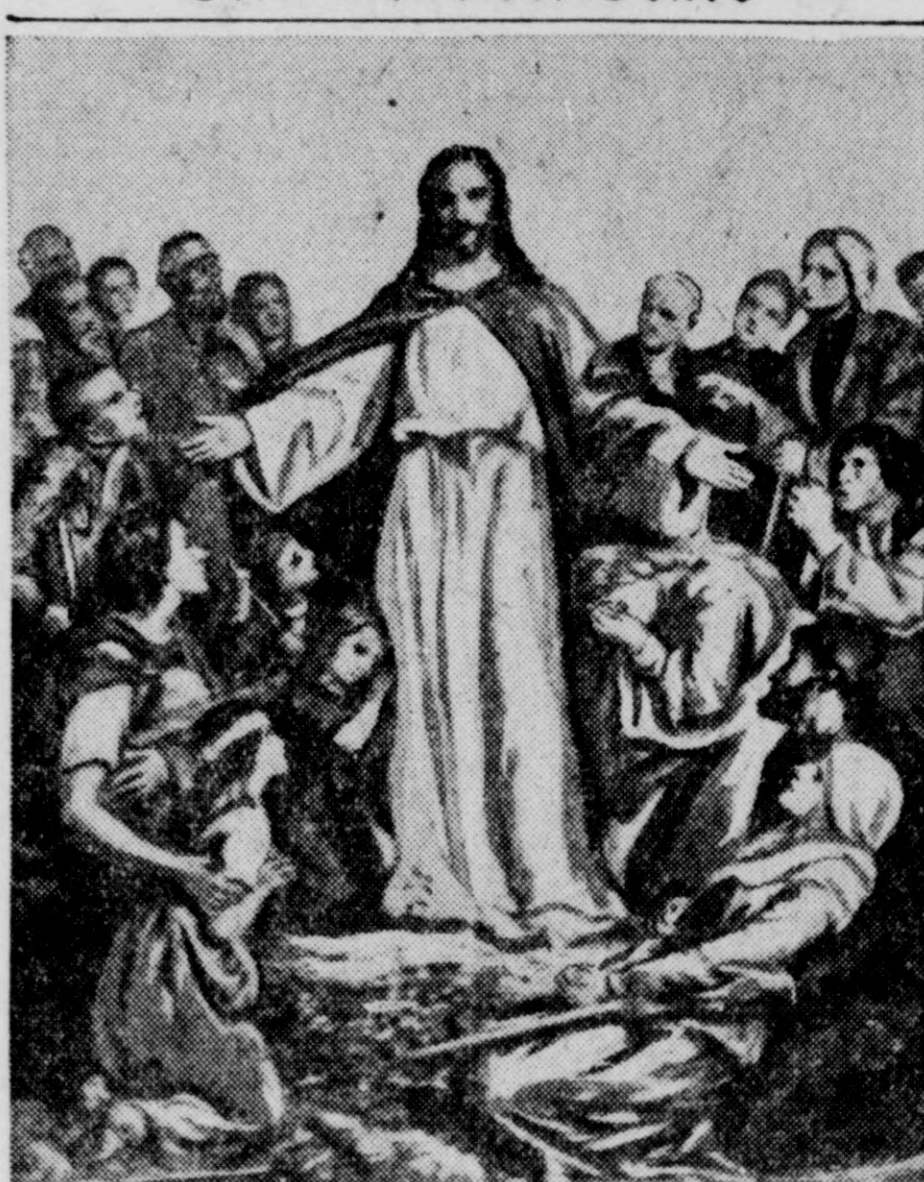

Fertilizer requirements of early cabbage have been studied at the Pennsylvania State College agricultural experiment station for 12 years. A 4 year rotation, including cabbage, potatoes and tomatoes and a cereal followed by grass and clover, has been used. At the end of this study, W. B. Mack, in charge of vegetable gardening at State College, concluded: "Phosphorus was the most valuable single fertilizer element, while potassium, under the conditions of the experiment, was the least profitable. Nitrogen and potassium produced profitable increases when added to phosphorus."

The best fertilizer for early cabbage, as suggested by the Penn State experiments, is one containing 60 pounds or less of nitrogen, 200 pounds or more of phosphoric acid and 40 pounds or slightly more of potash to the acre. These same amounts would be contained in 300 pounds of nitrate of soda, 1250 pounds of superphosphate, and 86 pounds of muriate of potash, or in a ton of 3-10-2 mixture.

Broadcasting The Word

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

He went throughout every city and village, preaching and shewing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God.—Luke 8:1.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

With radio and telephone furnishing us with voices that can be heard across continents and oceans, and with ears that can hear equally far, with the printing press and newspapers giving us hands to write and distribute messages by the millions; with the automobile and the airplane giving us feet or even wings, to which distance is no obstacle, how shall we ever justify ourselves if we fail to use these God-given wonders in His glory in the dissemination of God's word? Of our Lord Jesus we read, "That he went about through cities and villages preaching and bringing the good tidings of the Kingdom of God." With weary journeys from village to village, with slow transportation and poor methods of communication, Jesus and his helpers spread "the good tidings of the Kingdom of God" certain devoted souls—"ministering of their substance." God be merciful to us if with multiplied means of broadcasting the same "good tidings" we fail to minister unto him of this our substance!

Broadcasting and Reception

Eager as Jesus was to spread the "good tidings" and loyal as were his disciples and those who ministered unto them of their substance, the results depended upon the hearers of the word quite as much, if not more than upon the teachers or preachers. Jesus illustrated this age old problem of interest, attention, retention and reaction by one of his earliest parables, which might be called "the parable of the soils." "The sower went forth to sow his seed, and as he sowed, some fell by the wayside; and it was trodden under foot and the birds of the heaven devoured it." These wayside hearers represent the preoccupied hearers with hearts impervious to the word, because they are beaten hard by the traffic and rush of commercialism, and fall a ready prey to Satan, who is represented by the birds that devoured the seed of the word and made it fruitless.

Superficial and Divided Hearts. "And other fell on the rock; and as soon as it grew it withered away, because it had no moisture." These are the superficial hearers, who, because they "have no depth of earth," are all enthusiasm at first and indifferent shortly afterward, when they learn what it is all about, and that religion calls for sacrifice and perhaps even persecution. Then there is the attitude represented by the seed that "fell amidst the thorns; and the thorns grew with it and choked it." These are the folks with divided hearts—hearts crowded with "cares and riches and pleasures of this life"—folks distracted and jaded and "rushed to death" spiritually—capable folks they are, but unable to distinguish values and eliminate the harmful and concentrate upon things worth while.

The Fruitful Heart.

Last, but not least, come those of "honest and good heart," who neither allow the devil to steal; the flesh to starve or the world to strangle the good seed of the word of God in their hearts. "And other fell into good ground and grew and brought forth fruit a hundred fold." They not only attend to what they hear, but they mix their hearing liberally with meditation, devotion and action. They are not hearers only, but doers of the word. So don't blame the preacher or teacher for all the Church's failures and fruitlessness. "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear."

Evangelist Speaks Of Irene's Plight

Dr. Peacock Refers To Murder Case In Sermon Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 20.—The local high school was fairly well-represented last night at the union services held in the U. P. church with Dr. Luther K. Peacock presenting a special address for their benefit. The auditorium was comfortably filled.

Dr. Peacock chose his subject from the text, "Why sit here until we die." He illustrated this subject by explaining the uselessness of inactivity. Four lepers were outside the walls of Samaria, a city suffering with famine and they themselves suffering. They could not expect any aid from the city nor would their condition improve if they remained inactive. As one of them explained, "We must move on, we have everything to gain and nothing to lose by action." And as a result they had not only found relief for themselves but also for the famine-stricken city. The speaker told of Elsha, who had warned the king of Samaria of this famine, but had been ignored. Elsha explained that it would come because of the wickedness of the city. As a result he was imprisoned by the king for telling the truth. "That is the way with the modern people," said Dr. Peacock, "we ostracize any one who dares tell the truth about us."

"Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague have ignored the truth and have suffered the consequences. If they would only have obeyed the laws of God, they would not be where they are—doomed to die," continued the speaker.

Many people let their feelings control their nature. These are very easily offended. Feelings should not be considered in the acceptance of religion. People refuse to accept God because of this and will not be given any sympathy.

"A time will come when it will be too late to get into the kingdom of God," was the warning of Dr. Peacock. "Now is the time to relent to the ways of Jesus Christ. A person is on dangerous ground when nobody can tell him anything. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose in living a clean life," was the final admonition of Dr. Peacock.

Again Dr. Peacock extended the invitation for those wishing to dedicate their lives to God and 60 students and others responded by stepping forward.

Dr. Robert H. Little was the presiding minister. The scripture lesson was read by Rev. W. E. Minter, a prayer led by Rev. J. A. King and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Arthur M. Stevenson. A solo was given by Rev. H. D. K. Huber.

This evening by popular request Dr. Peacock will deliver a sermon on the "Unpardonable Sin." What is the unpardonable sin? Dr. Peacock will endeavor to enlighten the people of the community at this evening's services.

Faculty Tossers Win Easy Game

Ben Franklin-Shenango Combination Is Defeated By 37-14 Score

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 20.—Unleashing a bewildering offense throughout the game the Ellwood City High School faculty swamped the Ben Franklin-Shenango Township combination under a 37-14 score last night in the Lincoln auditorium. Binney of the Ellwood team had run wild during the short duration of the period he was in, caging 9 field goals.

The visitors had scored twice from the court before the locals could get started, but when they did, the onslaught did not cease until the final whistle. And again coming back strong in the next half by collecting 15 points to 4 for the visitors, the final score being 37-14.

Binney, Lloyd and Bell were the best performers for the victors while Calan and Johnson were outstanding for the visitors.

Zelenople Foe For High Tonight

Revamped Ellwood Team To Play Final Game Of Season

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 20.—Facing Zelenople with a revamped lineup in the final contest of the season in Section 3 the Ellwood City High School will endeavor to bring victory home in this last game to be staged in the Lincoln gym this evening.

Due to some altercation at the New Castle game Tuesday, Kenneth Zeigler and Earl Rossman regular guard and center respectively on the varsity, have been replaced on the team by Coach Ingle. Zeigler is said to have handed in his uniform between halves of the New Castle game after being taken out. Rossman quit after the game. Coach Ingle refused to reinstate either upon the former's request.

Lattiano will appear in Zeigler's place this evening. Cloak, regular forward will be switched to center and Forsythe will replace him. Duddick and Kennedy will appear in their regular positions at guard and forward respectively.

In their previous encounter Ellwood had decisively beaten Zelenople on the latter's home floor, but it is the general opinion that they may not fare so well this evening.

The preliminary is indeed an attraction. The varsity sextette will entertain the Alumnae in a floor contest at 7:30. The Alumnae may be considered as an "all time" aggregation. Those that will be seen in action once again are Irene Ross, Mary Ellen Stier, Virginia Blazin, Bertha Caplan, Mary Jane Thompson, and Ruth King.

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 20.—The life of a fireman isn't all fires. So charged Herman Gok, a Detroit "smoke-eater," when he filed a cross bill to his wife's divorce suit.

Gok alleged that when he returned home after fighting fires and sitting in a warm station house during his working hours, there was no fire in his home.

The fireman also charged that he had to cook his own meals, wash the dishes and mend his own clothes while his wife "sits in a rocker and rocks."

The wife, in her complaint alleged that Gok had consorted with other women.

The suits brought an end to six years of married life.

PLANE-TO-SHIP MAIL SUCCESS ON PACIFIC

(International News Service)

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Feb. 20.—For the first time on the Pacific Coast a waterproof sack of U. S. mail was successfully transferred from a speeding airplane to a ship at sea.

As the tri-motor airplane roared over the steamship "City of Los Angeles" enroute to Honolulu the sack containing 13,000 letters was dropped to the ship. The bag missed the deck of the steamer by a few feet but was hauled aboard within a minute.

The success of the experiment was said to be the inauguration of the mail transfer to ships at sea in the future.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 20.—Roosevelt Gailey of Koppel, has succumbed to his bullet wounds incurred in a shooting affray on the Koppel streets last Sunday night. Death "struck" him Thursday afternoon in the Ellwood City hospital after putting up a valiant fight for his life for four days.

Families Make Plans For Funerals Of Doomed Pair

(Special To The News)
WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 20.—The families of W. Glenn Dague and Mrs. Irene Schroeder, partners in a fantastic and fatalistic path of crime and jointly convicted and sentenced to die February 23 for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul, are to be claimed by their respective families. Immediately after the Pennsylvania Pardon Board refused to alter the sentence members of both families made plans for the funeral services. Dague's body will be sent to the Crider Bros. Funeral home at Elm Grove, and Mrs. Schroeder's body will be looked after by Cooley Benz of Wheeling.

The services for Dague are to be at the Crider home, and will be strictly private. The body is to be shipped to Wheeling as soon as it is released by the Pennsylvania officials and will be taken direct to the funeral home. According to members of his family, no one will be permitted to view the body, and the services will be marked by extreme simplicity.

Since his arrest and trial Dague has maintained a rigid aloofness, renouncing all claim upon his family, and apparently preferring that they leave him to his fate. Consequently he has received few visits by members of his family, however, this week his wife with their two children made a final visit to him.

The isolation which he sought in life is to be allowed him in death, and no one but members of the family will be allowed to view the body. Upon the arrival of the body at the funeral home it will be placed in the receiving vault, and will not be removed except upon the request of the family. Thus the Dagues hope to save his body from the eyes of the morbid and curious public.

Rev. H. O. Teagarden, his friend and ministerial advisor, is with him, and will stay with him to the end. Rev. Teagarden was the pastor of the church in which Dague taught a Sunday school class, and served as Scout leader and it is to him that Dague has opened his heart, and told the story of his life in all its sorrows and joys.

Rev. Teagarden will go with him on his last journey from New Castle to Bellefonte. From Bellefonte he will bring the body back to Wheeling. It will be Rev. Teagarden who will preach the simple service over the body of the boy who a few short years ago was a leader in his church.

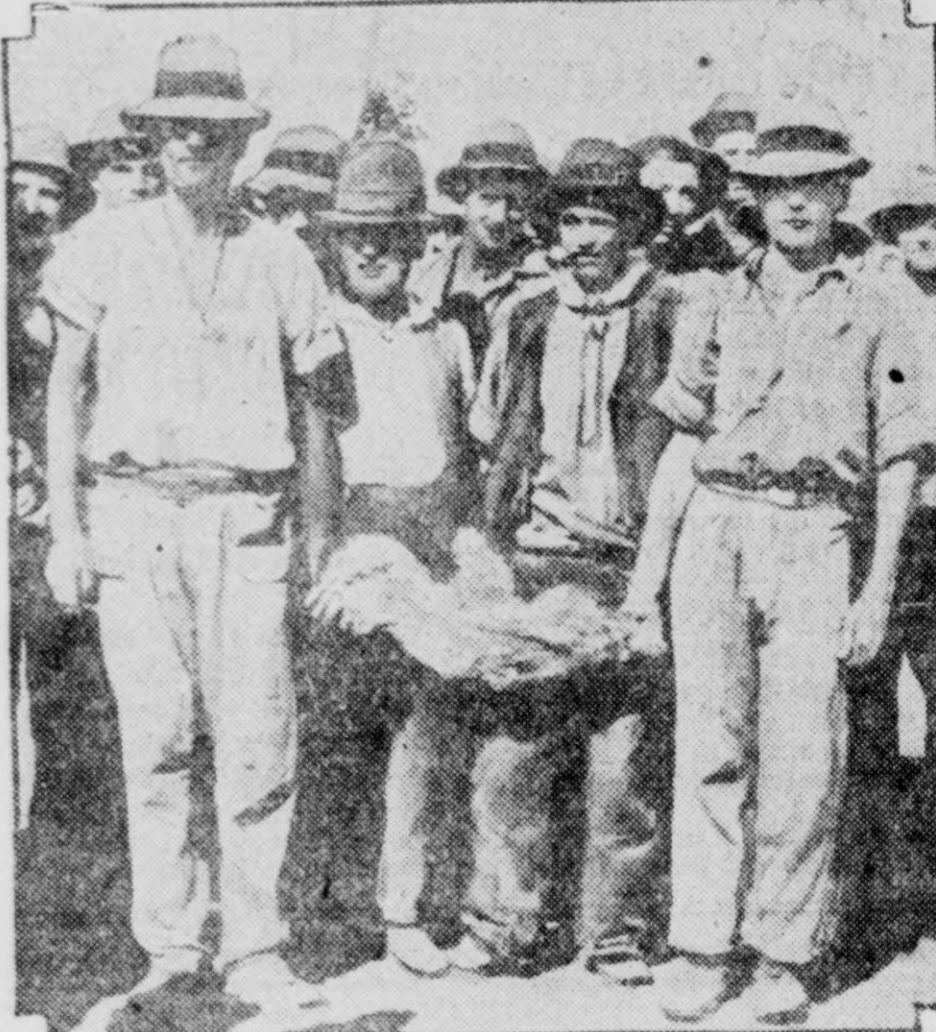

After the service which will be held privately the funeral cortege will wind its tortuous way to the quiet little cemetery at Dallas where Dague will be laid by the side of his mother who fortunately preceded him to the grave. And there he will cease to be Dague the criminal and will join the ranks of the Dagues, a highly respected and honorable rural family.

Definite plans for the Schroeder funeral are incomplete, but they will likely be private with interment in the family burial ground at Beilaire, Ohio.

Lincoln-Garfield Club Holds Annual Banquet Meeting

John S. Love Is Named As President Of The Club For Ensuing Year

Annual banquet gathering of the members of the Lincoln-Garfield club was held last evening at the Elk's Club with thirty-seven members in attendance.

The gathering proved most enjoyable to those school boys of the Lincoln-Garfield school, who attended that place of learning between 1900 and 1911.

Dinner was served at 7:30 o'clock with Ben Hartland, the retiring president presiding. Attorney George W. Muse was the guest speaker of the evening and gave a much appreciated address.

Delightful music was rendered during the evening by Anthony Copple, Jack Cole, Leroy Mumford, and Tom Palmer. Their efforts added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

New Officers selected for the ensuing year are: President, John S. Love; Vice-President, Joshua Morgan; Secretary-Treasurer, Ed J. Ryan.

It was decided to hold the second annual picnic and outing for the members and their families on July 12 at a place to be decided upon and announced later.

The next annual banquet meeting will be held the third Thursday evening of February, 1932.

Little Hope For Embargoes Except On Oil Products

Sixty Patriotic Organizations Seek Embargoes Against Soviet Russia

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Although 60 patriotic organizations continued their fight to win extensive embargoes on exports from Soviet Russia, before the House Ways and Means Committee, today, there seemed little hope for a check except on Petroleum products.

A score of embargo proposals are under consideration by the House committee, with representatives of every patriotic organization of the country demanding a virtual "black-listing" of all Soviet products, as a national policy. Chief among the organizations represented were the Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution and Daughters of Liberty, and the Patriotic Order of the Sons of America.

One of the petitions under consideration of the committee, demands an absolute embargo on Russian products, and was presented by John B. Trevor of New York, chairman of a coalition of all the patriotic organizations of the country.

"The time has come," the petition declares, "for all patriotic labor, and farm groups to unite in a common defense against the Soviet economic war, as well as the communistic propaganda which the ruthless dictators of Soviet Russia are directing against our civilization and our Government."

Government Will Take Hand In Big Chicago "Grafts"

(International News Service)

CHICAGO Feb. 20.—Federal authorities today announced that they will assist the special county grand jury in its drive to break up the asserted alliance between corrupt police and the underworld by dealing with all instances of conspiracy brought to light by investigators.

Captain Michael Lee whose police station was raided by agents of the special grand jury Wednesday night was summoned to appear today before the federal grand jury. All books and records in the raided Englewood station were impounded by the investigators.

It was explained that Captain Lee will be questioned regarding the records of seven subordinates who were suspended on the order of the grand jury after they were named as collectors of graft from gambling houses and speakeasies.

Investigators staged seven more raids on speakeasies and gambling houses in the district last night.

Vatican Station Is Heard Today

Engineers Of National Broadcasting Company Pick Up Messages

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Through the Vatican City Radio Station the Pope today thanked the thousands of persons all over the world who have sent him congratulatory messages in connection with his initial broadcast speeches on February 12.

The Pope did not speak personally but a Vatican City representative, understood to have been Father Gianfranceschi, director of the station, declared the pontiff was most anxious to acknowledge every telegram and cable he received, and he has instructed his secretaries to that effect.

Station HJV was "on the air" from 9:30 to 10 a. m. The program was not rebroadcast in the United States but engineers of the National Broadcasting company picked it up for test purposes and declared reception was quite clear.

Urge Congress To Enact Rail Legislation For Power To Commission

Titanic Struggle For Control Of Strategic Railroads Pictured

Would Bring Expansion More Securely Under Thumb Of Commission

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Picturing a titanic struggle for control of strategic railroads, experts of the Interstate Commerce Commission today recommended that congress bring railroad expansion more securely under the thumb of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The experts proposed that congress not only act with an eye to the future but consider retroactive legislation to permit scrutiny of past operations and possible to unscramble some mergers.

Report Drafted The report was drafted by Walter M. W. Spahn and aides under authority of the house resolution directing an investigation of holding companies and their influence on railroad consolidation.

In vast detail the experts traced recent railroad developments, showing the famous railroad magnates of former days—the Goulds, Vanderbilts and Harrises—have been succeeded by far flung holding companies built around the Van Sweringen interests, Pennsylvania railroad, New York Central and others.

They found that 21.94 per cent of the voting stock of the class 1 railroads had passed into the hands of other railroad; that 15 major groups control nearly 85 per cent of the railway mileage of the nation.

Developments in East Most of this development has been in the East, but railway interests are looking to the West, the experts found.

Family holdings, it was found, are not enough to give control. The George X. Baker family controls 10 per cent of the Lackawanna; Arthur Curtis James apparently controls the Western Pacific; the Vanderbilts have 17 per cent of the voting stock of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie.

Most railroad systems, it was found, are closely affiliated with big banking houses. Banking organizations, it was reported, own $415-$16,876 par value of Class 1 railroad stock, which is 5.08 per cent of the total. J. P. Morgan and Co. headed the list with a total of $112,653,732; Paine, Webber and Co. was second with $71,461,296.

The experts traced the representatives of big banking houses on railroad directorates, but found little could be established as to control by this method. Charles Harden, New York banker, they reported, held 64 directorships. A. J. County and E. J. Berwin, 47 each, and W. A. Harriman 44 positions.

Railroads, they found, have investments outside their lines, but they usually are related to railroad operation.

Supreme Court Gets Tax Collection Case

Internal Revenue Commissioner Says Wanamakers Owe $10,000,000

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—David Burnett, commissioner of internal revenue, resorted to the supreme court today in his attempt to collect $10,000,000 he claims the government is due in taxes on the estate of the late John Wanamaker, Philadelphia merchant.

Burnett claimed the aged merchant transferred property worth $36,000,000 to his son and two daughters two years before in "anticipation" of his death in 1922. The board of tax appeals ruled the property transfer was not made with such an intention and the third circuit court of appeals affirmed its action. Six members of the board, however, dissented to the opinion.

Today Miss Griscom has regained her health and made a business success of her venture, for people come from far places to see her, visit her and see her display of wild flowers in her annual Wildwood Glen show.

Seek Release For Youthful Aviator "Cave-Man" Lover

Young Man Had Gun And Handcuffs With Him In Kidnapping Girl

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Efforts were to be made at Norristown today for the release of Albert Kelsey Darling, 19-year-old aviator and Culver Military college honor graduate, who was taken into custody accused of attempting to kidnap Miss Elizabeth Converse, debutante daughter of a prominent Rosemont family, after she rejected his attentions.

The arrival of the youth's mother Mrs. Joseph R. Darling, from her Kew Gardens home on Long Island early today, resulted in the employment of Attorney W. Leroy McKinley, who will appear in the Montgomery county court and seek the boy's release in bail.

He was committed to jail without bail by Magistrate Meredith of Ardmore when it was testified he was carrying a .32 calibre revolver strapped around his waist and a pair of handcuffs in his pocket. He planned to secure Miss Converse in a vacant house in Chestnut Hill, with the handcuffs if she continued to rebuff him as she had recently, Darling told Lower Merion police. He was charged with assault and battery on Miss Converse and her mother, carrying concealed deadly weapons and with attempting to kidnap.

Since the first day ice was put in, not a bird has been seen about the lake.

Army Will Get New Uniforms

Extra Pair Of Pants Will Be Missing As New Order Comes Out

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The army will get new uniforms after July 1, but they will cost every man a pair of breeches every three years. Present regulations allow each soldier four uniforms and one extra pair of breeches every three years. The orders issued today for replacement of the old uniforms after July 1 eliminated the extra breeches.

"The reduction of the allowance by one pair of breeches is made possible by the increased wearing quality of the new clothes," the department said.

Firemen Labor 73 Hours And Are Able To Save Child's Life

ARNOLD, Pa., Feb. 20.—Firemen here Friday were credited with saving, by the constant administration of oxygen, the life of 4-year-old Aileen Roma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roma of 1804 Fifth avenue, who has been suffering from double pneumonia for a week. Although still working over the child, Chief Elmer Roberts said last night at the completion of 73 hours' struggle that "the child will get well unless complications develop. She has only been unconscious once. She suffered a slight relapse at that time, but was quickly revived." The firemen saved the lives of twins of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson, Arnold, recently, and were called on the pneumonia case of a baby who died. The disease had obtained too much headway, Roberts said.

FRANKLIN LODGE SENDING 100 TO WELCOME RULER

Elks' Chieftain Assured Rousing Reception On March 11

Visit

Pledging to have at least 100 of its members here to represent it, the Franklin Lodge of Elks today was on record as being the first of the district lodges to volunteer its cooperation in a big way for the reception of Grand Exalted Ruler Lawrence Rupp, scheduled to visit New Castle on March 11.

Confirmation of the Franklin organization's support came when Exalted Ruler Edward F. Ryan visited there on Tuesday, participating as a guest in the lodge's annual turkey dinner. About 200 attended.

Exalted Ruler J. Lee Lavery promised Ruler Ryan that his membership would do everything possible to have a near 100 per cent turn out.

The general chairman for the chieftain's visit here, probably the most elaborately planned reception in the state, is Larry Gent of Franklin, leader in the affairs of the northwestern Pennsylvania district.

The grand exalted ruler will conduct a district class for new members during his visit here, and Franklin assures the locals they will send 30 candidates.

Powers To Seek Facts From Dague

Will Attempt To Learn Location Of Body Of Crawford

In the hope that Glenn Dague may tell where the body of Tom Crawford is buried, District Attorney John S. Powers may question him before he is taken out of the Lawrence county jail for Rockview. On yesterday The News carried the story of Dague's confession to his wife that Tom Crawford had died from gunshot wounds and they had buried him in a ravine between Wheeling and Parkersburg. If the story is true, then the authorities would like to verify it, for the purpose of clearing up the mystery of Crawford's disappearance.

"If the story is true," said District Attorney Powers, "we would like to have Dague name the spot where they buried Crawford. In the interests of justice we should know this, and I will probably ask him sometime today if he cares to tell the story."

If Dague makes any statement he will do so without being placed under oath. As a condemned man, there would be nothing possible of being done if he refused to talk or told a fictitious story. If he makes any statement it will be of his own free will.

Discover Ancient Statue In Naples

Fragments In Excavation Regarded Of Rare Historical Value

(International News Service) NAPLES, Feb. 20.—Out of thirteen fragments, just unearthed during the excavations in the Grotto of the Sibyl, at Cuma, Professor Maiuri, has rebuilt a statue of the hero Diomedes, who stole the Palladium.

The fragments were discovered in the first well in the grotto, which opens immediately after the largest hall in the haunt of the Sibyl. Some bits of the statue were missing, especially the hands and a good part of the flowing mantle, but the right foot, which was also believed to be missing has been recognized in a marble foot which had been found a long time ago and cemented as a souvenir on the wall of a peasant home on the Mount Cuma, and has now joined the rest of the statue.

Professor Maiuri believes the statue to be one of the finest instances of ancient statuary recently unearthed. The hero is naked, his only garments being the mantle which he is keeping wrapped on the left shoulder. He seems to have halted, suddenly turning his body and head towards the left, with the eyes watching intently as if he sensed some danger approaching.

The author of this sculpture is believed to be Argo Cresilas. And Professor Maiuri having discovered under the base of the statue a Greek inscription giving the name of the artist who copied the original and the words "Gaius Claudio Polione Frugiano" feels that he can find the model of the magnificent statue in the person of M. Claudio Marcello, who died in Bala in the year 23 B. C., at the age of 20. He was a great favorite of Augustus, of whom he was a nephew.

Virgil refers to him in the sixth book of Aeneid, when among the heroes Anchises is showing Aeneas, there passes a sad figure of a youth sensing death—young prince Marcellus.

Finds New Hormone In Yale Experiment

(International News Service) NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 20.—Dr. Walter B. Cannon, professor of physiology at Harvard, has been able to furnish "the explanation of a mysterious emotional increase in the heart rate" and has therewith discovered a "hitherto unknown adrenalin-like hormone," which he has named "sympathin."

Lecturing before the Yale Medical society here, Dr. Cannon revealed the discovery "that a chemical substance is given off by smooth muscle when stimulated by nerves attached to the spinal cord, over which the brain has no control, and affects the heart directly as does adrenalin."

The discovery is listed as throwing "further light on the action of the involuntary or sympathetic nerves," and adds to the knowledge of influences which accelerate the heart, Yale scientists declare.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Extra police were dispatched to the near South Side in an effort to stem an outbreak of bomb terrorism in which three dynamite blasts were set off last night within a period of less than two hours.

In each instance, police said, evidence was found linking the explosions to disputes between non-legitimate labor organizations and employers. Hired terrorists were believed to have set off the blasts.

The places bombed were an advertising handbill distributing plant, an outdoor advertising distributing plant and a large motor car agency. Only slight damage was done at the first two factories, but the motor car service station bomb inflicted an estimated damage of $3,000.

11. Benedict Arnold—The Retreat From Canada

(Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

AFTER ITS REPULSE AT THE STORMING OF QUEBEC (DEC. 31, 1775) THE AMERICAN ARMY FELL BACK TO MONTREAL. HERE BENEDICT ARNOLD RECOVERED FROM HIS WOUND.

EARLY IN MAY, 1776, A BRITISH FLEET ARRIVED AT QUEBEC, BRINGING AN ARMY OF REDCOATS TO REINFORCE GOVERNOR CARLETON. GREATLY OUTNUMBERED, THE LITTLE AMERICAN ARMY FOUND A RETIREMENT FROM THE ST. LAWRENCE IMPERATIVE.

DISCOURAGED AND WORN OUT, THE AMERICANS RETREATED TO ST. JOHNS, BUT ARNOLD'S EXPEDITION HAD NOT BEEN ENTIRELY FRUITLESS, FOR HE HAD KEPT MANY BRITISH TROOPS ENGAGED IN CANADA THAT MIGHT OTHERWISE HAVE BEEN USED AGAINST WASHINGTON'S ARMY.

IN JULY ARNOLD, NOW FULLY RECOVERED FROM HIS WOUND, WENT TO FORT TICONDEROGA, WHERE HE REPORTED TO GENERAL PHILIP SCHUYLER, WHO HAD AGAIN ASSUMED COMMAND OF THE AMERICAN FORCES IN NORTHERN NEW YORK.

New Castle High Plays Butler Tonight

NEW CASTLE PREPARED FOR CRUCIAL CONTEST

Locals Hope To Annex Section Three Title By Defeating Soap Miners

FANS SHOW INTEREST IN FLOOR BATTLE

Both Coaches Will Send Strongest Lineups In Hope Of Victory

Two schoolboy basketball quintets meet in the most crucial contest of the season tonight at Butler, when the New Castle High School passers play Butler high. The two teams with the best records made by any teams in the history of their institutions will try desperately to continue their impressive playing by coming through victorious. The game starts at 8:00 o'clock.

Since these two schools started their basketball rivalry has always prevailed and when brought together New Castle and Butler have staged some of the best battles seen on the court.

Have Good Records
The records made by the two quintets in question are every bit impressive. Let's take New Castle first. The Tin City passers will take the hardwood with 16 straight victories under their belts and no defeats. In this number of conflicts the local W. P. I. A. L. title seekers have scored 508 points for an average of 31 and a fraction points per game.

Scanning over the record one discovers that the Red and Black cagers hold a 26-21 victory over this Butler team earlier in the season. This win by the way gave the Castles their one game advantage in the Section Three top berth. Butler has a record which also stands out.

To date the Heinzerlans coached outfit has come through with the winning side in 15 instances out of 16. The only black mark is the defeat by the New Castle team. The Gold and White file will not only be in there to wipe out that defeat but will also strive to win for the reason that a loss for New Castle will be the first one of the season and will give Butler a deadlock for first place honors in Section Three.

Might Deadlock
Should this be the case Butler and New Castle will have to meet again sometime next week, the winner would represent Section Three in the schoolboy tourney scheduled to commence next week at Pitt Stadium. If the locals win it will be all over for Butler and the Soap Miners can start thinking of a scheme of defeating Coach Bridenbaugh's machine next season.

Butler's last triumph over the local basketball talent came several years ago when the Butler County came in with a tie for Section Three honors. In the play-off for the sectional title New Castle won by an overwhelming count.

Butler boasts of a cunning defense that is apt to fool the Lawrence Countians. Their defense has proven a puzzling one to 15 defeated opponents. New Castle's problems will be to break through that defense. The locals on the other hand also have a rather difficult defense.

On the offensive side New Castle seems to have the edge. Due to the fact that the game is being enacted on the Butler floor, many favor the Butler five. A* any rate fans are prepared to witness one of the best exhibitions of basketball in many a moon.

Teams End Practice.
Both teams ended their training program on Thursday afternoon with light drills. The mentors of the two machine pronounced their proteges in good physical condition for the contest. On the point of victory the two Coaches Bridenbaugh and Heinzerlans appeared confident that their cagers would come through on the winning end.

The lineup representing the two institutions will probably be something like this: Butler—Keeck and Little forward Wolfgang, center: Lobo and Fitzmartin guards; New Castle: J. Uram and Shaffer forwards; Lasky center; Nick Uram and Reiber guards.

Due to the distance between the two cities one of the largest delegations to watch the New Castle boys plays on a foreign floor this season is expected to follow the local Red and Black machine.

Yellow Jackets Lose To Scienceville

Local Maidens Hold Lead Until Final Minute Of Play And Are Defeated

The strong New Castle Yellow Jackets, girls basketball team lost a close one on Wednesday evening when the local maidens dropped a 25-24 verdict to the Scienceville girls in a game played at Scienceville.

The New Castle girls lead by Miss Ruth Patton and Ann Ponion held a lead throughout the tilt until the final minute when the Scienceville cagers tied the count and were fortunate to cage a double decker just as the final whistle blew. The Jackets defeated the Scienceville girls not long ago.

For the Jackets the playing of Misses Patton and Ponion stood out while Luxon and Stoyer were the best for the winners.

The summary follows:
Yellow Jackets 24 Scienceville 25
Patton F. Luxon
Ponion F. D. Thom
Kaufman C. Stoyer
Cowmeadow S. C. Bennyner
Cowmeadow G. I. Thom
Mears G. Crayder
Substitutions—Jackets, McGrath; Scienceville, None.

Fouls, Yellow Jackets, 8 out of 9; Scienceville, 11 out of 11.
Referee—Smith.

Good Games Are On Tap Tonight In Church League

Senators Need Winning Hurler

Manager Walter Johnson Says That "Pennant Depends On Pitching Staff"

THINKS NEW BALL WILL PROVE RIGHT

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—"If one of our pitchers can turn in 25 victories next season we will win the American league pennant."

The speaker was Walter Johnson, popular manager of the Washington Senators. Johnson, in Washington today preparing to leave for training camp at Biloxi, Miss., has been in New York this week in connection with a novel indoor baseball game which he invented.

"We have the finest pitching staff in the league," continued Sir Walter. "Hadley, Marberry, Brown, Jones, Crowder and Liska won a total of 85 games for us last season. They should do at least as well this year, and I am counting upon one of them to win 25 games. To win the championship a team needs one outstanding pitcher like Grove or Ferrell."

"Burke and Fischer should win five or six games between them, and that would give us a total of 100 victories, which will be enough to clinch the pennant."

The "Big Train" thinks that the new American league ball, with its raised seams, will help his young pitchers.

Grove City Tops Duquesne 33-27

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—Grove City College's five triumphed over the quintet from Duquesne last night 33-27, in one of the most thrilling games of the current floor season, that saw the dying moments of the contest develop into a two man rivalry to wrench victory for each side. Benedict, forward for Grove City and Pegley, captain and forward for Duquesne, each tallied 13 points throughout the game, but their efforts to lead their respective fives to a win kept the fans on their feet during the latter moments of the fray.

Both teams used frequent substitutions, although Pegley and Benedict remained to fight for honors throughout the entire game.

Unloosed Energy

Twisted into an odd position that resembles more a movement from a modern ballet than the form of a star jumper, R. Enthwhistle presents this unusual picture as he reels a broad jump for his alma mater, Occidental College, at the opening of the Southern California track and field season.

Diana's Armor

Now it is "Diana of the Links." This particular Diana is Miss Fishwick, the nineteen-year-old English girl, who won the British Women's title last year and is now competing in Florida. The little golf champion is shown with a threatening array of clubs on the course at Palm Beach.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Emil St. Goddard won the first lap of 400-5 miles of the eastern Canada dog derby at Quebec, Que.

The condition of Ban Johnson, who underwent a blood transfusion yesterday, is worse. He is in a Chicago hospital.

Benny Rocco of Ellwood City has managerial aspirations and is booming Buddy Mason as one of the county's best 130 pounders.

Gene Connell, former University of Pennsylvania catcher, has signed a contract with the Philadelphia Nationals.

Charley Curry, 122 pounder now residing here, will fight Pinkie May at Texarkana in the near future, he announced today.

Helen Hicks defeated Diana Fishwick 8 and 5 in the semi-finals of the Florida women's championship tournament at Palm Beach.

Emmett Rocco is in training for his punchfest with K. O. Christner, February 24, at Akron.

Tilden Again Beats Kozeluh

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Feb. 20.—Karl Kozeluh, Europe's pro tennis champion, will have to do a lot better than he did here last night if he hopes to make a creditable showing in his tennis tour with "Big Bill" Tilden.

Kozeluh suffered his second straight defeat in straight sets, and while undergoing the beating failed to make any kind of a favorable impression on the $5,000 house. The scores were 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

THE "MOTTLER" Shirt and Tie Ensemble

Not by accident; but by design, these shirts and ties look so well together. No wonder. The silk for the ties and the madras for the shirts are reproductions of designs from one artist who produced both.

You'll like the way you look in these pastel shirts with their dimpled stripes and the mottlings of white and color in the tie design.

Passengers See Spouting Whales

(International News Service) SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 20.—"Thar she blows!"

Passengers on a northbound airplane were thrilled by this spectacular sight near here over the Pacific Ocean.

The airplane attracted a large school of whales swimming in formation. As the ship flew over the animals the latter spouted long streams of water.

NEW YORK STOCKS

See Moderate Upward Movement Of Stocks

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The Public Utility stocks and the Specialties were the leaders this morning in a moderate upward movement of prices, in which new gains of 1 to 2 1/2 points were recorded. The session started off like a race horse, with 700,000 shares turned over in the first half-hour against 400,000 in the same period yesterday. The favorites going through in 5,000 and 10,000-shares blocks.

Speeding up of the Automobile and Steel industries to meet increasing demands of the home markets and the growing demands for stocks from outside sources were the outstanding factors in creating a better feeling in Wall street.

Consolidated Gas and Columbia,

National Power, Electric Power and other popular Utility stocks moved up the line about a point on the average. Radio pushed above 20 for the first time this year. International Tel. & Tel. continued its spectacular advance and reached a new high at 35, up 2 points for the day and 17 points on the move. United Aircraft was in big demand above 35, up 2 1/2. Westinghouse topped 100 for a gain of 2 1/2 and General Electric advanced 2 to 3 points.

Commodity markets were steady and money in good supply at 1 1/2 per cent on the stock exchange. The big Oil companies cut the tank wagon price of gasoline 1 cent a gallon.

His Open Umbrella Brings Good Luck

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 20.—Judge George J. Steiger's municipal courtroom in the hall of justice here has seen queer sights in the name of humanity in its day, but it took a man with an umbrella to throw the entire court into nothing short of an uproar.

When Raymond Grago who has carried an umbrella day and night for 47 years, was called before the bench to answer a vagrancy charge, he calmly opened his umbrella as he marched toward the judge.

One prisoner fell into a semicircle from laughter and the faces of half dozen alleged vagrants were wreathed in smiles. Court attaches looked on with consternation.

"Don't you know it is bad luck to open an umbrella in any house?" asked Judge Steiger.

"I've heard tell but I don't believe it," replied Grago, the only calm and collected person in the courtroom. "Judge, for nigh on to forty-seven years I've toted this umbrella—or ones just like it—and no bad luck ever came to me because I opened it indoors."

He went on to explain that long ago he failed to carry his umbrella to a wedding. Five years later he fell and had a "crick" in his back ever since.

The habit of totting an umbrella was acquired, Grago said, in his native state of Oregon where it attracted no unique attention.

Judge Steiger let the man go.

City To Make Its Own Bullets For Police

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 20.—Equipment to be used by the police department to manufacture its own bullets will be purchased by Cleveland city authorities if Police Chief George Matowitz's plans succeed.

Chief Matowitz made the request for the equipment following the proposal of Lieutenant Harley Moffitt, who estimated that the city could save $17 per thousand bullets by having the department make its own.

Lead used by policemen in target practice could be retrieved and used again, Moffitt said. It is also his idea to have every man in the force fire 25 shots a week in target practice, if the new scheme succeeds.

Incorporates Family Under Terms Of Will

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Under the terms of his will on file here, the estate of Samuel Shuff will be turned into a corporation under the State laws, with his widow and children its officers. The widow is to receive a salary of $100 as director and secretary.

His two sons are to serve as directors and as president and treasurer, according to the provision of the will.

Indian Mound Ace Proves Good Business Man, Too

By JACK SORDS

Central Press Sports Artist

Though no other pitcher ever was offered $15,000 for his third season in major league baseball, that makes little difference to Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland mound ace.

Wes was paid $500 a month after being given $3,000 to sign a contract. For his second season he was paid $10,000 plus a $1,000 bonus at the close of the season.

The club also points out that Ted

Lyons of the White Sox and George Earnshaw of the Athletics, hurriers whose showing last season was about on a par with Ferrell, received less than $15,000 through they are veterans.

Wes comes back with the crack that it makes him no never mind what other hurriers do or do not earn. He knows what he wants. He knows he has a first-class brand of big league hurling for sale and he wants a high price.

Ventilators Hamper Washington Justice

(International News Service) SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 20.—Perfect acoustics are all right in their place but that place is not the ventilators between adjoining courtrooms, according to Superior Judges J. T. Ronald and William J. Steinart, who got their cases all mixed up here as a result of the microphonic qualities of the air conveyors.

The trouble was revealed soon after the judicial department moved into new quarters in the County City Building addition recently erected. Notes exchanged between the judges explained the situation.

"Dear Judge," wrote Judge Ronald to Judge Steinart in the courtroom below. "Am I to understand I am sitting with you in that case being tried in your court? If so you write the decision and I will concur. If your orator will move his mouth farther from the 'microventilator,' my jury and myself will hear him more distinctly."

"This is a maritime matter, and I am all at sea," read the note Judge Steinart sent in reply. "You write the opinion and I will concur. But I can't move the orator's mouth without moving his body, and that's too big a job for me to undertake in the serenity and dignity of my court."

To Plant A Tree For Each Cold Star

(International News Service) AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 20.—Every soldier who gave his life for his country in the World War would have a tree planted in his honor if the plans of the American Legion, department of Texas, works out.

The trees would be planted by local legion posts and supplied free through co-operation of the legion headquarters and the Texas state forest service. The tree planting would be an annual affair.

You're the JUDGE

The Decision

The court held against Miss Tripp. The judges reasoned thus: It is true that a third person informed of the libelous matter makes publication complete and enables the injured party to recover damages, but in this case the third person could not be held as a separate entity. That person and the general manager together completed the one act, and since they were considered as one person there was not the necessary publication to enable Miss Tripp to recover damages.

Word Expert Finds Much Misspelling

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Ambitious candidates for this year's spelling bees had better brush up on some of the more common words, if they hope to win out. For, according to Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, noted etymologist, there are many words in the English language in common use that are consistently misspelled by the great majority.

London City Claims Richest Square Mile

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The City of London's proud claim to be "the wealthiest square mile" in the world seems to be borne out by statistics for the financial year but closed.

In addition to rates and taxes, which annually produce scores of millions of dollars for the city's exchequer, the revenue of the City of London corporation last year was $70,741,545. When all expenses were paid there was a surplus of $91,550.

Details of expenditure reveal the corporation annually pays out enormous sums in entertaining domestic and foreign nobilities at the famous Guildhall and other city buildings.

Six functions, including only two given at the Guildhall—that given to the London Naval conference delegates and that in honor of the

ROTARIAN MISSES HIS FIRST MEETING

(International News Service) MILFORD, Conn., Feb. 20.—The pride that service club members have in their organization's affairs was indicated here when George J. Smith, first president of the Rotary club, was taken sick just before a January meeting and missed his first session in eight years. A physician had to be called to explain the danger that lay in his plan to have his son carry him to the meeting, wrapped in blankets.

It now devolves again upon that eminent and resourceful member of the family, Nicholas Murray, to keep the name of Butler before the public.—The Louisville Courier-Journal.
